BREMEN FLYERS REACH QUEBEC

First Lap of Delayed Trip Covered Quickly

Pilot Balchen Makes Daring Landing on Snow
Aviators Will Make Flight to Washington

In God's mercy, he expressed his thanks to the Supreme Being. He bowed. The formal ceremonies were over.

While this was going on newspaper and motion picture cameras had set up their paraphernalia and were busily clicking shutters and turning crank-handle records for posterity and the people in the movie theaters on Main street anywhere. That over the little band walked over to the hangar. It was explained that Dr. Louis Quilley had elected to remain at Greenly Island with Ernest Koepfen, the mechanic, to be near the Bremen.

Tonight the little party will confer on plans. Tomorrow at 6 a.m. the flyers will take off for Washington, according to present plans, to pay tribute to the memory of Woodrow Wilson at Arlington Cemetery.

POPULACE ALL OUT
Under sunny skies and warm weather, warm for the section of the world, the whole population of this tiny hamlet was grouped about the hangar on the border of the lake. Gazing skyward all morning for the first sight of the relief planes bringing back to the mainland the few German flyers and the Irish colleagues of the trans-Atlantic plane, the Bremen.

It was a picturesque scene. The French-Canadian inhabitants dressed in the klanes with their backs, fur caps perched back of their heads, were waiting for the first thrill of their lives.

In their midst there were ex-changin' comments on the strange scene before them: five planes from New York standing poised on the ice ready to dash back to the metropolis with pictures of this strange event in world history, newspaper men and other strangers from the city, and a few residents who had never seen any human beings other than the few who had come over on top of the little two-story hangar. The Canadian flag was hoisted on the pole in the town square.

It was a rare day here, just as it was one for the few residents of Lake St. Agnes as it will be for the millions of New Yorkers when the flyers arrive there.

Work to Start on Sanatorium

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26. (AP)—Construction of a sanatorium of which the first unit will cost $1,000,000 will be begun in San Francisco by the Christian Science Benevolent Association for the Pacific Coast as soon as architects' plans now being drawn are approved.

M. R. Higgins, chairman of the trustees of the association, today announced the purchase of an eighteen-acre site.

PARDON GRANTED YEARS TOO LATE

Convict Who Served Year Declared Innocent of Fraud Charge

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (AP)—Lucien Dunning, for a year and twenty-one days a convict at San Quentin, was today pardoned by Gov. Young though he was discharged from the prison after serving his sentence, August 23, 1925.

The Governor, the judge who sentenced him and the prosecutor who sought his conviction now agree that he was probably innocent. Though nothing can restore to Dunning the time lost in prison, the action gives him his citizenship and civil rights.

The case originated in Sonoma county. The charge was obtaining money under false pretenses.

STERILIZING ISSUE FAILS OF ADOPTION

League of Women Voters Delays Action to Prevent Propagation of Unfit

CHICAGO, April 26. (AP)—Social hygiene and delinquency concerns the League of Women Voters at its convention today, the delegates refusing to approve a committee recommendation that sterilization of the unfit be supported.

The league voted to continue study of the subject.

Mrs. Wells Egleston, Newark, N. J., reminded the women that sterilization has been a study of the league for years.

"It now is time for the league to support delinquency prevention measures such as child and birth control, rather than curative measures," she said.

She said the only mention of birth control, a subject that is expected to bring about a general debate.

Mines Put Ban on Union Force

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—M. E. Willard of Cleveland, secretary of the United States Coal Company, today made the declaration before the Senate committee investigating the bituminous industry that his concern will never "under any circumstances" whatsoever agree to deal with the United Mine Workers of America.

Otherwise, his testimony was directed chiefly at what he described as lawless conditions and violence in the Ohio fields following the closing of the company's mines upon expiration of the Jackson wage agreement. The conditions he described came about, he declared even though he attempted to make reasonable arrangements on a nonunion basis.

"I proclaim without any equivocation," he continued, "that the United Mine Workers of America, through their lust for power and wealth and money have themselves dug their own back and their usefulness so far as the United States of America is concerned."

Lorillard Cuts Cigarette Price

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—A reduction of the wholesale price to $9.10 a thousand for Old Gold cigarettes was announced today by the P. Lorillard Company, manufacturer. The old price was $9.40 a thousand before customary trade discounts of 10 per cent and 3 per cent.

A few days ago the American Tobacco Company reduced the price of Lucky Strike brand 40 cents to $9 a thousand and Liggett & Myers and the R. J. Reynolds Company at the same time cut the price of their Chesterfield and Camel brands 60 cents to the same level.

Cinemas Protest Havana Curfew

HAVANA, April 26. (AP)—More than 100 motion-picture houses in Havana may close in protest against the law recently enacted by the government prohibiting children under 18 years of age from attending shows after 6 p.m.

Representatives of the picture houses are meeting today to consider the question of closing all theaters. In a statement they declared theaters would be closed pending decision of the Supreme Court on constitutionality of the ordinance.

INDIANA BOSSES OPPOSE HOOVER

Watson Has Backing of State Machine

Hoosiers, However, Likely to Clean House

Primary May 8 Watched as Decisive Event

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 26. (Exclusive)—With the tremendous gains made in Ohio and Massachusetts, Hoover managers now are concentrating all their efforts and resources on the primary election to be held on May 8, one week after the Republican party of California is to choose a solid delegation for the Secretary of Commerce.

It is another fight like Ohio. There Hoover forces faced the machine of professional politicians. In Indiana Senator Watson, the favorite son of the Hoosier State, has the political organization all lined up for him and has practiced leadership to him in every minute political subdivision of the State. So far, his past for the time being is being ridiculed over the organization and many of the public vote are eager to throw off the orders of the organized leaders in Watson's behalf.

Whether they will throw out the old machine and elect a new one, the Republicans cleaned their slate in the defeat of the Thompson-Small-Smith machine, remains to be seen. But that is the job the Hoover managers are now concentrating on.

WINNER TAKES ALL.
Under the primary laws in Indiana the winner of the presidential vote takes all the delegation from the start to the finish. Only Watson and Hoover are up for Presidential choice. No one even for a second round.

Watson as a real candidate and that may hurt his chances. Hoover is a name candidate.

Watson's campaign is being run by his own staff, the Hoosier State, he simply will trade it to some other candidate opposed to Hoover.

There will be no difficulty in getting the vote as candidates for city, county and State office are up in arms.

It there is any theory that Illinois and Ohio primaries indicate a general revolt among the Republican voters, Indiana's entire delegation may be landed for Hoover.

During the war between Greece and Turkey Mrs. Bassett received much comment for her work in transporting thousands of orphaned children from the Black Sea towns of Asia Minor to safety in Constantinople and Greece. Upon one occasion she rescued 200 abandoned children in the Seleme Barracks at Dursad of Florence Nightingale.

Mrs. Bassett was named in dispatches as having rescued many persons during the quakes of this week in the district where she has been stationed.

MORE ANCIENT CITIES RUINED

rental rains and hailstorms are multiplying the misery of the shanties and distressed population while the earthquake continues to cause the destruction of the ancient cities.

AMERICAN RELIEF BUSHED
With traditional promptness, American generosity is extending aid in all of the ruined areas. The relief work is being carried on by the Red Cross and the Near East Relief.

The Near East Relief is reaching to Corinth 2000 cases of supplies, 2500 tons of food, 6000 blankets and other relief supplies, some of which was donated by the public school children of New York City to the Greek Women's Patriotic League.

The same organization also is distributing 2000 tons, 15,000 cases of supplies, medicines and money to other districts in the Balkan earthquake zone.

NEW TREMBLORS SHAKE CORINTH REGION
ATHENS (Greece) April 26. (AP)—Earth shocks have been continuing in the region of Corinth, the most severe being felt at 10 o'clock last night. This tremor also was felt in Athens.

Almost continual rain has aggravated the situation in Corinth. But British sailors from the ship "Eagle" erected 500 large huts last night and distributed 5000 loaves of bread.

The newspaper Rhinos today printed the promise of Robert P. Skinner, American Minister, in telegraphing to the American government for the opening of a relief fund in America. This, says the paper, shows sympathy by deed and not by words.

Every effort is being made to relieve those in the stricken districts. In one case even the children of an orphanage begging the director to reduce their meals and to give the sum saved to the earthquake fund. The American Ulen Company has subscribed 75,000 drachmas (about $1200) to the relief fund.

Greeks now visiting in Greece gave 100,000 drachmas.

A third of the population of Corinth left the city and the morale of those remaining is excellent. Villages around the city are being completely destroyed. Yesterday's shock also caused damage at Pravi near Kavala.

SICKNESS OF NEGRO MAY CHEAT GALLOWS
SAN QUENTIN, April 26. (AP)—Crisis in the illness of Lonnie Johnson, Merced negro sentenced to be hanged May 11 for the murder of a woman, today declared that he was twenty-four hours whether he cheats the gallows.

Dr. L. L. Stanley, the prison physician, today declared that Johnson is suffering from tubercular peritonitis with complications.

Mrs. Edna Ashley Bassett was one of the nurses who was declared in news dispatches to have had a narrow escape at one of the temporary relief stations in Corinth, Greece, in which they were aiding those injured in the earthquakes in the last week.

Mrs. Bassett, a sister of Mrs. Charles J. Carle, of 2850 Whitehouse place, came here for a visit early in February of 1927, after an absence of almost four years. In March of the same year she returned to her work in the Far East.

FAREWELL TO BREMEN TOLD

Vismaurice Recounts Futile Effort to Repair Plane

Still Hopeful of Getting Craft in Shape for Flight

Plans for Return Journey to Europe Set Forth

in the bay hotel. It was no easy task. It took us three hours to do it.

We took the machine safely on the ice in the bay, we decided to stop work for the night. That evening we held a consultation and agreed that the best place for a take-off would be from the ice off Long Point on the mainland, about a mile away. We had placed a radio in the plane and the ship during the night.

Next morning conditions were extremely good. We turned out at 5 a.m. and began to push the Bremen across the ice. Three times, however, she broke through soft spots in the ice and we had to hoist her up again and place her on dog sleds. Then we started pushing her once more, this time successfully, finally reaching the smooth ice running parallel with the shore line.

ENGINE WONT GO
We now decided to build a fire and melt the ice. The reason given was that the engine was not working. A large vessel was procured to boil water, we also heated the line of oil for the engine. We took the engine apart and cleaned it thoroughly. They had become badly fouled in the flight. We also cleaned the carburetor and cleaned them. After that the petrol was filled.

At 8 o'clock the next morning we were ready to start the engine. We tried but without success.

GAVE HEALTHY WORK
That evening there was every indication of an approaching gale. We decided to move the Bremen off the ice into the shelter of the harbor at Long Point. There we could be safe.

It began to snow before we had completed the work. Then a gale came up and the work was impossible.

I should like to say a word about the flight. The flight was very good. I should like to say a word about the flight. The flight was very good.

FIGHTS TO LIVE MEET IN TUCSON

Factional Issues Outweigh Delegate Question

Unit Rule Enforcement May Bring Walkouts

Republicans Have No Special Presidency Choice

TUCSON (Ariz.) April 26. (Exclusive)—There can be no accurate forecast of what will happen at Saturday's Republican State convention in this city. State factional fights are expected to overshadow the selection of delegates to the national convention. Already have come declarations of walkouts in the event that any county shall attempt to enforce unit rule, while the same idea of individual voting appears likely to prevail with the Kansas City delegation.

LOWDOWN BOOM DELAYED
The Lowdown boom has been dampened by reports from recent eastern primaries and the claim heretofore made that Lowdown would have the solid Arizona vote appears questionable. It is considered probable that the committee on resolutions will have this matter up for consideration.

Just now the main trouble is over selection of the Arizona members of the National Committee. Leading in the race is H. Corbett of Tucson, present State chairman, but opposition to him has developed. From some unknown Phoenix source has come a circular directed against him, with particular reference to his support of H. R. Dages for United States Marshall.

OTHERS MENTIONED
One faction may offer Francis Crable of Prescott, a former assistant United States Attorney; T. H. O'Brien of Miami, general manager of the Inspiration Consolidated Mining Company, or Glenn Knapp, a Douglas attorney. These even may be returned to the present member of the National Committee, former Gov. Frank H. Campbell, though he is not a candidate.

It is understood that no opposition will be known to selection as chairman of James H. Boylston of Douglas, attorney, probably half the voters in the convention will be by proxy, especially from the remote counties.

There is expectation that the convention will receive the announcements of several candidates, with special reference to Frank Stewart for the United States Senate and John C. Phillips for Governor.

State Bond Debt $110,124,500

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (AP)—California's bonded debt as of the 1st inst. was $110,124,500, Charles C. Johnson, State Treasurer, reported today. The total of bonds authorized was $140,100,000, of which $120,700,000 has been sold, $19,707,000 remaining unsold. The total redeemed was $10,583,500.

For comparative purposes the Treasurer's report gives the 1927 assessed valuation, $1,547,000,000, and the estimated population, 2,388,407.

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—The Senate today passed the Cederlund resolution calling upon the War Relocation Authority to investigate the cost of production of tungsten in the United States and China and report its findings to President Coolidge. China was named as "the principal competing country" for the tungsten market.

More important than the mere expression of faith and unity underlying the Republican will of the entire State was the message that the party will go to the polls at Tuesday's primary with 50,000 more Republican votes than four years ago, prepared to attack H. H. H.

It was made of the fact that what this state does in the face of the world that might be expected from an unopposed primary will have a highly significant effect on the political mind of the rest of the Union.

Marshall Hale, presiding officer of the gathering, as well as Northern California campaign chairman, provided the keynote in the declaration that "every Republican in California is for Herbert Hoover."

SENATE DEBATE ON DAM STARTS
Tolson Makes Urgent Plea for Bill's Passage
Essential Purpose
Must Get Ready to Turn Guns on Mexico

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(AP)—The Senate today began its debate on the Boulder dam project, which has been the subject of a long and heated controversy. The bill, which would authorize the construction of the dam, was introduced by Senator Johnson of California. The debate was opened by Senator Johnson, who made an urgent plea for the passage of the bill. He stated that the dam was essential for the control of floods and for the development of the Colorado river. He also stated that the dam was necessary for the protection of the United States against Mexico. The debate continued through the day, with many senators speaking in support of the bill. The Senate is expected to vote on the bill tomorrow.

SPECIALISTS TO SEEK CAUSES FOR POISONINGS FROM MUSSELS
SACRAMENTO, April 26. (AP)—Specialists on pathology and bacteriology from all parts of California will study here, May 1 to 10, the cause of the recent poisoning in the San Francisco Bay region. The study will be part of the work before the State Medical Association. The poisoning, which occurred in the city of San Francisco, was caused by the consumption of mussels. The study will be conducted by a committee of specialists from various parts of the state. The committee will be headed by Dr. Karl F. Meyer, of the University of California. The study will be held at the University of California, in San Francisco. The committee will be looking for the cause of the poisoning, and will be trying to determine how the poisoning can be prevented. The study will be a very important one, as it will help to prevent future poisonings. The committee will be working very hard to complete the study in time for the next poisoning. The study will be a very important one, as it will help to prevent future poisonings. The committee will be working very hard to complete the study in time for the next poisoning.

FEASIBILITY DECLARED
The project will not cost the government a cent, he asserted, "for before there can be a shovel of earth turned or a single dollar expended, the government must have in its hands wholly executed contracts guaranteeing repayment of every cent contemplated to be expended under the bill." Johnson denied doubt exists as to the engineering feasibility of the project, saying that the Reclamation Service engineers who have approved it are "the most experienced in the world in the building of dams." He declared that the rights of all seven states concerned would be protected simply under the provision in the bill requiring ratification of a compact by only six, leaving Arizona, although he did not mention that state specifically, out of the family picture. Senator Johnson spoke for nearly two and one-half hours and once when his voice gave out under his tempestuous flow of words Senator Tydings of Maryland, a Democrat, came to his assistance with a question call to give the Californian a rest. Before Johnson began his speech, Senator Ashurst of Arizona, leading Senate foe of the Boulder dam bill, offered an amendment to be considered later, providing that the project can proceed only after ratification of a compact by all seven states involved. The wording was:

SMOOT TO FIGHT BILL
These are amendments to which Senator Johnson objected vigorously in committee and threatened to have stricken out on the floor and Pittman's move was to find out right at the start whether they are to remain in the bill. If they are eliminated, he and his colleagues, Senator Oddie, are to line up with the bitter enders against the bill. If they stay in, the two Nevada Senators, while still half way opposed, will not fight the bill nor seek to prevent a vote. Senator Johnson would not agree to Pittman's request, saying that preceding amendments would not take much time and appealing to Senator Ashurst to corroborate this statement. Ashurst, who is prepared to filibuster against the measure if necessary, replied he could not be expected to agree to fixing a date for his own execution and was not interested in arranging any of the details for the bill's consideration. Johnson then formally declined to grant prior action on the two Nevada amendments. Resumption of the fight tomorrow is expected to see Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the Finance Committee and one of the most powerful figures in the Senate, swing into action against the bill. He has prepared a speech which will require several hours for delivery.

WRANGEL'S ARMY TO STAY INTACT
Aide of Late Leader Predicts Early Russian War
Beggar Knights in Factories and on Balkan Farms
Details Complete for Speedy Massing on Frontier

(Copyright, 1928, by the Chicago Tribune)
BRUSSELS, April 26. (Exclusive)—War against Russia is inevitable within five years, so Baron Peter Wrangel's army of 50,000 troops will be maintained, ready to intervene, said Gen. Chatilov, aide and chief of staff of the leader of the Crimean rebellion forces, who died here yesterday. "The Wrangel army will not be disbanded, but the organization will continue functioning and the headquarters will remain in contact with the small detachments of ex-soldiers working on farms, in factories and elsewhere throughout the Balkans, until it is time to renew the assault against the Red terror in Moscow," said Gen. Chatilov.

EXPECT CALL FOR HELP
The beggar knights, as the Russian refugee soldiers are called, will remain intact and Gen. Archangel, one of the chief lieutenants of Baron Wrangel, henceforth will be in charge of maintaining liaison with all the groups in Macedonia, Bulgaria, Jugo-Slavia and Rumania.

SONG TONES PHOTOGRAPHED
Actual Notes Caught by Camera and Measured With Scientific Precision, Savant Reveals
WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—A demonstration that the singing as well as the singer can be photographed and measured with scientific precision was given last night by Dr. Carl E. Seashore of the University of Iowa. In the concluding lecture of the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences, Dr. Seashore, who is a member of the University of North Carolina, and recorded the singing of "I Lay My Burden Down," by a farm hand working in a corn field.

ACTUAL NOTES
The volume presenting the actual notes in the manner of a line graph, is being published with the conventional notes inserted to show the deviations. As present it is practicable to photograph only the sound waves and the singer or musician, but work is progressing rapidly to develop the instruments further so that this moving picture, made with one camera, not only may be projected on a screen, but the music itself may be as clearly reproduced as if it had been recorded on a phonograph, gaining an effect similar to that of the Vitaphone. In photographing the song or instrumental music, Dr. Seashore explained, a beam of light is reflected into the camera from a sensitive membrane which vibrates as the sound waves strike it. The light, moving back and forth across the moving film, produces a zigzag record which shows every variation within one-thousandth of a second. By analyzing these variations and plotting them on a chart representing the musical scales, it is possible to present a graphic and readily understandable record of what actually happened.

RECOMMENDING THAT ANTHROPOLOGICAL EXPEDITIONS TO PRIMITIVE PEOPLES IN THE FUTURE BE EQUIPPED WITH INSTRUMENTS, HE PRESENTED AN ILLUSTRATION OF A RECENT SUCCESSFUL "FIELD TRIAL" AMONG NEGROES OF THE SOUTH. UTILITIES' DAM ACTIVITY SIFTED

Federal Board Goes Into Boulder Propaganda

Letter Written to House Put in Hearing Records

Scruggs Telegram Admits Receiving Payment

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Activities of the joint committee of National Utilities Associations in opposing the Boulder Canyon bill for the construction of Boulder Canyon dam and its wide interest in all legislation affecting big business were delved into today by the Federal Trade Commission in its utility investigation.

A letter addressed to Chairman Smith of the House Irrigation and Reclamation Committee, dated Jan. 14, last, charging that the Boulder dam project is economically unsound and contrary to the principles voiced by President Coolidge and other high government officials, was introduced.

The letter was written by Josiah T. Newcomb of Washington, general counsel for the committee, after a draft of it had been submitted to C. C. Merrill, executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission, who wrote a paragraph which he suggested be inserted.

ONLY DIRECT CONTACT
Stephen B. Davis of New York, director of the committee, testified that the Newcomb letter was the only direct contact made by the committee with Congress on legislation.

Neither Davis nor Newcomb, both of whom were on the stand twice today, could assist Robert E. Healy, chief counsel for the committee, in identifying the author of a report dated July 28, 1927, on a conference of Colorado River Basin State governors in August. It urged that some "effective work" be done to influence Utah and one other State to continue the battle against Boulder dam.

It was brought out through the introduction of a letter to Gov. Emerson of Wyoming that F. C. Wilson, New Mexico water commissioner, and representative of that State at Boulder dam conferences, sent copies of his letter on the project to the joint committee.

Davis testified that other than the Newcomb letter no effort had been made by the committee to influence legislation. Newcomb said, however, that the committee was reorganized last year largely because of a statement by Senator

WEDDING THREE TO TEN RISK

Club Woman Figures Thirty of Hundred Wives Home Makers

CHICAGO, April 26. (AP)—Man's chances of getting an ideal wife are only three out of ten, Mrs. Clarence C. Goodwin, past-president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, has computed.

"American wives fall into five classes," said Mrs. Goodwin, addressing a woman's meeting. She divided them as follows:

Home maker or "ideal" type, 30 per cent; "miserable" type, 30 per cent; "neglect" type, 15 per cent; "drudge" type, 20 per cent; baby doll type, 15 per cent.

Walsh, Democrat, Montana, that utility concerns had sold securities amounting to $2,000,000,000 without any assets.

PRIVATE CONTROL URGED
Newcomb said the committee opposed anything like the Ontario government-owned power project and said the government should retain to utility companies power generated at Muscle Shoals and Boulder dam in order not to disrupt the economic structure.

The committee has been active on the Shipstead anti-injunction resolution, tax revision, standard weights and measures bills, and the regulation of interstate transmission of power. He related methods used to get constituents to inform their representatives in Congress as to their attitude on pending legislation.

Davis introduced a telegram from former Gov. Scruggs of Nevada, which states that he received $600 from the joint committee a month after he had finished work as a member of Secretary Work's impartial board of review on the Boulder dam project. The payment to Scruggs had been brought out in previous testimony concerning payments to others who had rendered the joint committee various services.

BOTH LOWDEN AND DAWES HIT

Candidates' Backers Scored During House Debate

Farm Bill Declared Ruse to Support Aspirants

Measure Asserted to be Not What Tillers Want

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Farm relief and the Presidential candidacies of Frank O. Lowden and Vice-President Dawes became intertwined in the House today as it began debate on the McNary-Haugen relief bill.

Two members, Aswell of Louisiana, a Democrat, and Clarke of New York, a Republican, asserted that Lowden's friends are using the measure to get him into the White House and Aswell went further with the statement that the same use of them is being made in Dawes's behalf.

The Louisiana branch into Dawes-Lowden politics with the assertion that the Vice-President's supporters "have sidetracked Lowden now after using him as long as they wanted to and turned to Dawes." The Vice-President, he said, "represents the international banks and they are behind him to cancel the war debt."

LOWDEN CORNERED
Clarke, who, like Aswell, is a member of the House Agricultural Committee that framed the Haugen bill being considered as a substitute for the McNary measure, already passed by the Senate, declared the "politician is in the saddle" in effort to enact one of the bills, which he described as "built upon the shifting sands of political expediency."

He added that Lowden had been a good friend of the farmers up to the time he "got politics in his veins," and that the politician has "cornered Lowden and made him accept the equalization fee." He also declared that the bill has been "framed and supported by paid political propagandists."

Aswell and Clarke took the floor after Chairman Haugen had opened the discussion with an explanation of the bill during which he reviewed a number of changes effected by the Agriculture Committee in an effort to meet objections raised by President Coolidge in his veto message of last year's McNary-Haugen measure.

AS TO RELIEF NEEDED
Haugen declared the need for relief still is as great as when the

SKIRTS THAT REVEAL KNEES CONDEMNED AS DEVOID OF ART

Copyright, 1931, by the Press Publishing Company (New York World)

LONDON, April 26. (Exclusive)—By a vote of 2-1 the Royal Academy has condemned knee-length skirts from the artistic viewpoint.

An argument arose from the fact that most of the present-day portraits of women are half-length. Sir Frank Dicksee, president of the academy, and Hon. John Collier say it is because of short skirts. "From a well-known portrait painter, he said, 'I don't think it is fair to blame modern dress.'" farm problem first was brought before Congress several years ago. He also corrected the point of fact in his lengthy report filed with the House endorsing the bill and urging its enactment and which, in detail, took up the revisions made in the new measure.

Aswell said that an "organized lobby, called the 'born bell lobby,' is the bill vetoed to make it appear that they had given Lowden an issue on which to run for the Presidency. He said that this lobby has set outside of the Agriculture committee-room door to keep watch on the committee during its deliberations in executive session.

The lobby also threatened to "hang the stars" of members who put the President in a hole but that Mr. Coolidge "dynamited the hole" and that his veto was swept "like wild fire across the continent."

Aswell declared that the committee did not start work on farm relief until January because the farm representative did not reach Washington until then and that it would have been impossible to start without them.

"It appears to me that after spending four years studying agriculture," he continued, "that it is a childish thing to pass this bill when we know it never can become a law. This measure was written and driven through the committee by organized farm representatives. It does not represent the intelligence of the committee nor the views of the American farmers."

Irish Envoy to America Scored

DUBLIN, April 26. (AP)—Announcement of the post of Free State representative at Washington was urged in the Dail Eireann budget debate today by Eamon De Valera, the Republican leader, who said that it was not worth the money it cost. It was based on false premises, he said, and it would be better if the Free State ceased to have a minister who merely was part of the British Embassy. It did not do credit to Americans, De Valera added.

Her Flashing Smile wins friends wherever she goes

Conductors always find a seat for lovely Miss Ethel Holzman, a Colgate user since 1914

WHEREVER Miss Holzman goes, that smile wins for her! It's so attractive... so flashing... so bright and clean.

Much of its loveliness is due to her gleaming, gleaming teeth... kept sound and healthy since childhood by the daily use of Colgate's.

And yet Miss Holzman's case is not exceptional. It is no accident that people who have used a cleansing dentifrice for years have teeth so sound and healthy. In this country, and in foreign countries the world over, you will find thousands and thousands of men and women who began using Colgate's ten, fifteen, even twenty years ago, and whose teeth today are exceptionally sound and beautiful.

Many tell same story

Many of these people are grateful enough to write to us. Some send their photos also. As a result, each day the postman brings a few more letters to add to an already bulging file. Many of these letters are from users who have brushed with Colgate's for at least a decade. Since, unsolicited reports from people proud of the soundness and attractiveness of their teeth.

There is nothing mysterious about these enviable results. The men and women fortunate enough to secure them did nothing that you cannot easily do yourself. They visited their dentist for periodic inspections. And they used Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream regularly twice a day. Choose your dentifrice on the basis of results. Follow the lead of those who have kept their teeth sound for years. Simply adopt for your own use the dentifrice most popular

CLEAN!

Years ago we set out to make the best dentifrice possible. We interviewed leading dental authorities. They told us that the one thing a dentifrice should do is to clean teeth. We then produced Ribbon Dental Cream—designed it to do that one thing superlatively well. It is not medicated, because all experiments in the past have shown that the original principle that cleansing is the only thing a dentifrice can do.

Pacific Electric reduces fares 10 to 45%

Tune in KFI Tonight

At eight o'clock P.M. over KFI, we will broadcast the Grand Opera Faust, with Virginia Flohri and Robert Hurd and splendid supporting cast—chorus of 20 voices—full operatic orchestra, direction of Pryor Moore.

Effective Today on All One Way and Round Trip Interurban Fares. Special Sunday PASSES Also Introduced. Reductions Mean Big Savings to Passengers and Betterment of Service. Learn What this Means to You.

WITH the belief that lower fares will foster greater community development and bring mutual benefits to all concerned, one of the most sweeping reductions in interurban fares known in the history of electric railways has been established as a trial.

To you, who are served by the Big Red Cars, this revision means immediate savings. It means that the single or round trip costs are materially reduced. It means more than ever before that the Big Red Cars are the cheapest, safest and surest form of transportation at your command.

To the Pacific Electric is extended the possibility of securing an increased number of satisfied passengers. It is hoped this will assure greater operating revenues—provide more funds with which to render a greater service to Pacific Electric patrons—and make it possible to better serve the communities in Southern California which the Pacific Electric reaches.

General Plan of Reduction

Pacific Electric stockholders have never received a dividend. But in spite of this fact Pacific Electric property has been improved and will continue to be improved. The Pacific Electric will continue to make its equipment safer and more comfortable to its passengers.

By the new plan all fares are reduced to the very minimum required for operating expenses in the belief that increased passenger volume will offset losses caused by the reduction in fares.

If the Pacific Electric profits it will thus be from the increased number of passengers who avail themselves of the new fares. It cannot expect to profit otherwise.

Commutation Fares

For some time past commutation fares have been below the actual cost of rendering service. To put such fares more nearly on the basis of actual cost, a slight increase in commutation rates has been established.

$1 and $2.50 Sunday Passes

In order to place the Big Red Cars at the service of thousands of people who have leisure time on Sundays, low rate passes are now available.

The $1.00 Sunday Pass entitles you to ride anywhere on the Pacific Electric system west of Upland, except Mt. Lowe. The pass is good all day—from early Sunday morning until 2:00 A. M. Monday. Use it on motor coaches as well as interurban and street car lines. With it you may visit all of the nearby beaches and interior cities in one day if desired.

The $2.50 pass entitles you to ride all day Sunday anywhere on the Pacific Electric system. These passes mean material savings. Note the following illustrations:

SENATE ALTERS TAX MEASURE

Repeal of Automobile Levy Wins Victory
Rewritten Bill Provides for $203,000,000 Cut
Suggestions from Mellon Pass Unheeded

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—The House $200,000,000 tax-reduction bill was remodeled completely today by the Senate Finance Committee in voting a $203,000,000 reduction schedule into the measure to meet the limitation set by the administration.

The Republican majority of the committee pared down the total cut within range of the Treasury deadline of $200,000,000 over the votes of the Democrats, who had advanced a $225,000,000 plan.

To win the support of the western Republican independents, whose support is necessary for the party in the approaching fight on the floor, the Republicans abandoned the proposal of the Treasury for repeal of the inheritance tax.

The $203,000,000 program voted into the bill today is the same as announced on behalf of the Republicans Tuesday by Chairman Smoot with the omission of the provisions for repeal of the inheritance tax. The plan, which ignores the proposals of both the House and Secretary Mellon, follows:

DETAILS OF PLAN

Reduction of the corporation tax 12 1/2 to 12 per cent instead of 11 1/2 per cent as voted by the House.

Repeal of the automobile levy of 3 per cent as voted by the House.

Reduction of the surtax rates applying on incomes between $12,000 and $70,000, proposed by Mr. Mellon but not provided by the House.

Increase in the exemptions allowed corporations from $2000 to $20,000, provided by the House.

Increase in exemptions under 10 per cent admission tax from 75 cents to $3. House proposed increase only to one dollar. Increase to 25 per cent in tax on price-cut admissions as proposed by House, accepted.

Repeal of levies on cereal beverages and wine as proposed by House.

Reduction in the rates on insurance companies from 13 1/2-3 per cent to 12 1/2-3 per cent.

RETROACTIVE PROVISION

The committee voted to make the proposed reduction in surtax rates retroactive to apply on 1927 incomes on which taxes are payable this year, meaning the return of $23,000,000 to individual income tax payers.

However, it rejected the House proposal for a retroactive cut in the corporation tax applicable on last year's income.

It was also decided on straight party votes to restore to the bill the present rates of tax on club dues, capital stock, and sales on the produce exchanges, which the House had voted to cut in half in each instance.

The $203,000,000 reduction was declared entirely acceptable at the Treasury, where it was indicated earlier in the day that Mr. Mellon would induce even a $210,000,000 cut. But the method employed in making the cut does not regard in any degree the program suggested by the Secretary to the committee.

He bitterly opposed repeal of the automobile tax and asked repeal of the inheritance tax, and the committee reversed him in both instances.

STEWART AGAIN IN HOT WATER

Senate Seeks Basis for Perjury Prosecution
Extracts from Testimony to be Given Study
Members Also Insist on Contempt Hearing

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—While vacating his order of arrest against Robert W. Stewart, wealthy Chicago oil official, the Senate today took steps looking to his further prosecution by certifying to the District Attorney of the District of Columbia extracts from his testimony before the Teapot Dome committee for study to determine whether a perjury charge should be lodged against him.

Moreover, it specifically declared its insistence upon the prosecution of the chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana on the contempt charge brought against him after his refusal to answer certain questions before the committee when he appeared there on February 2 and 3, last. That indictment is set for trial on May 31.

With these actions the Senate passed on to the courts all of the differences with Stewart, which began when the oil operator appeared before the committee last February and refused to answer two questions on the ground that he was under subpoena in the criminal conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair and that the questions should be answered in court.

CHICAGOAN APPEARS

These differences and their ending last Tuesday when Stewart appeared and told a story of handling some of the Continental Trading Company Liberty bond profits which amazed the investigators and which led Chairman Nye to observe on the Senate floor today that the witness was "evasive and in all probability did not tell all he knew about the purposes and affairs of the Continental Trading Company."

Not since the flaming days of four years ago when the revelations in the Teapot Dome scandal were coming thick and fast has an oil operator been stayed on the floor of the Senate as Stewart was during the hour and a half of debate which preceded action on the resolutions dismissing the warrant of arrest served on him on February 2, and certifying parts of his testimony to the District Attorney.

Partisan lines were forgotten as the assaults on one of the foremost figures in the American oil industry ebbed and flowed across the chamber. Senator Norris of Nebraska, a leader of the Republican insurgents, said he had no hesitancy in saying that Stewart is guilty of perjury.

NORRIS'S CHARGES

"It seems to me," he said, "from the testimony given by Stewart himself, and other facts which are undisputed and admitted, that he is guilty of perjury and has committed it before this committee."

Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, said Stewart's refusal to testify for the purpose of "frustrating justice" to "aid his partner in crime, Sinclair."

"His later testimony shows in what degree he held the Senate in contempt," the fiery Virginian said, "because he practically admitted, and yet denying, that he lied to the Senate committee and that he did it for a purpose—for the purpose of frustrating justice, because

LAUDER TO CUT KILTS SHORTER

Mr. Harry Ends Fifth Tour of Farewell and Will Be Back Again
NEW YORK, April 26. (Exclusive)—Sir Harry Lauder, ending his fifth "farewell" tour when the Berengaria sailed today, will be back next year for another, he admitted. And he might wear shorter kilts, he said, "because I can't keep pace with the American ladies unless I shorten my kilts a bit."

NYE GIVES VIEWS

While conceding that technically Stewart had freed himself from the charges which were filed against him by the Senate, Senator Nye said:

"Personally, I am not inclined to agree that Mr. Stewart is any more entitled to credit for his conduct in the contempt proceedings brought against him than Benedict Arnold would have been entitled to a resolution approving his conduct if he had been guilty of his treachery in his time."

Reviewing the whole Continental Trading Company deal, wherein Stewart believed to have secured a profit of 25 cents a barrel, and later received $750,000 in Liberty bonds, Nye said he believed Stewart had turned over to the Sinclair-Crude Oil Purchasing Company, Norris declared:

"There is not a honest spot in it. It is dishonest from beginning to end."

HIGHWAY OF OLD TRAILS PROJECTED

Resolution for National Route of Pioneer Roads Offered Senate by Capper

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Creation of a National Old Trails road, reaching across the continent from Washington to Los Angeles, is proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas.

Through the work of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, old trails followed by American pioneers in their journeys westward have been traced and to form units in the highway.

The highways to be used, following the old trails, are of an economic and topographical condition will permit, are the Washington or Braddock road, the old National or Cumberland road, the Boonville or Grand Canyon-Petrified Forest road.

The trail will extend from Washington and Baltimore across Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and California to Los Angeles.

Busy Program for Young in Kern County

BAKERSFIELD, April 26.—With every detail of the day outlined, Gov. Young is assured of one of the greatest reception ever accorded a Governor of California in this county, when he arrives here tomorrow.

A breakfast at Hotel Padre and a banquet at El Tejon Hotel will open and close the program. Following the breakfast the day's program has been outlined as follows:

9:30 a.m.—Gov. Young visits Kern County Union High School and addresses students in Griffith athletic field.

11:30 a.m.—Arrives in Taft for parade through streets of West Side city.

12 noon—Banquet at Woman's Improvement Club building, Taft.

2 p.m.—Program at Lincoln School athletic field, Taft, where the executive will address citizens, leaving for a trip through the West Side oil fields and back to Bakersfield immediately afterward.

5:30 p.m.—The Governor will address the men's brotherhood class of First Methodist Church at dinner.

7 p.m.—Official community reception and banquet at Hotel El Tejon under auspices of the Civic Commercial Association of Bakersfield.

American Girl Jilts Japanese

KALAMAZOO (Mich.) April 26. (Exclusive)—Miss Elizabeth Williams of this city has broken her engagement to Yashio Markino, Japanese artist and author, because, she says, she feels she "does not love him enough to be his wife."

Miss Williamson announced her decision to the girl Markino was to open in London an art exhibition upon the financial success of which an early marriage depended, according to their earlier plans. John Drinkwater, the dramatist, opened the exhibition at the British capital.

With the letter informing the 62-year-old artist that the 26-year-old Kalamazoo girl never could be his bride, Miss Williamson mailed to Mrs. Mary Seales, daughter of Trader Horn, a refusal with regrets of her invitation to Markino and his fiancée to spend part of the honeymoon on the Seales estate near London.

VALLEY AWAITS TO PAY HOMAGE

Fresno Bedecked for Annual Raisin Carnival
Queen Georgia, King Wallace Crowned Tonight
Parade Starts at 10 o'clock Saturday Morning

FRESNO, April 26.—The city after with songs, gun-bunting and fireworks, Fresno and the San Joaquin Valley await the twentieth annual observance of Raisin Day, which will attract thousands of visitors to this city from all parts of the State on Saturday.

The opening feature will be the coronation ceremonies for Queen Georgia Holmes of Lindsay and King Wallace Berry, motion-picture actor, during an elaborate pageant on the stage of the Wilson Theater tomorrow night.

PLAYGROUND THEME

The outstanding event is the parade, which will start at 9:30 a.m. Saturday and which will comprise approximately twenty-five divisions headed by a float carrying out the theme of this year's festival, "California, Playground of the World."

Each of the floats will carry one of the San Joaquin Valley's fairest daughters, selected by their respective home communities as a candidate for festival queen. The girls will depict the various sports around which the pageant is built.

An added feature of the day and a part of the festival program will be a treasure hunt staged by the local company of California and the Bee, Fresno newspaper, in which $7500 in prizes will be the reward of the treasure hunters. It will take place immediately following the parade.

The feature of the afternoon will be the west coast regatta, which will be staged in the Fresno State College stadium, with some of the State's leading high school and college athletes competing.

FLOATS GALORE

Approximately fifty communities and organizations have entered floats in the parade, and there will be the same number of decorated automobiles, several marching delegations and sixteen bands. It was announced by Raymond L. Quigley, Fresno parade superintendent, who is in charge of parade arrangements and entries.

The school bands of Taft, Madera, Fresno, Hanford and Fresno Tech will head divisions as will the bands from Selma, Kingsburg, Sanger, Riverdale, Fresno City, Fresno Eagles, Fresno elementary schools, Madera, Porterville Cadets, Lindsay, Fresno Scouts, Sanger Marines and the Modesto Scouts' Band. In addition to these musical organizations, floats and drum corps entries have been filed by the Pasadena, Stockton and Dinwiddie, California Legion, Bakersfield Eagles and Fresno Boy Scouts. Clovis, Merced and Bakersfield have also filed tentative entries for the parade.

BEAUTES ON PARADE

On the float which will carry Queen Georgia and King Wallace, will be the queen's four maid-of-honor, Misses Geraldine Walker of Waco, Flora Mitchell of Porterville, Dolores Street of Sanger, and Gertrude Cobb of Arvin. Clovis, am, Visalia; Frances Russell, Clovis, and Mrs. Helen Johnson of Kingsburg. Miss Madeline Capdeville of Tehachas was selected in the contest, but was unable to be in Fresno for the selection of the queen on the night of the 14th last, because of the illness of her mother.

The official Raisin Day song was written by Miss Marcela Britten, and was selected in competition with a large number of other entries. It was set to music by Milt Prayla, musical director of a local theater.

Walker Plans Return to Song

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—The Evening Post today says Mayor Walker is going back to the song-writing activities he practiced with considerable success before turning lawyer and politician.

The Mayor, whose fame in "Tin Pan Alley" rests on his authorship of the song "Will You Love Me in December as You Do in May" has promised to write a song, words and music for a musical comedy to be produced this summer by Earl Reed and Miss Elizabeth Markino, prominent in women's Democratic circles.

Falcon Island Spouting Lava

SUVA (Fiji) April 27. (Friday).—Falcon Island of the Tonga group thrown up in 1885 by volcanic eruption, again is spouting lava and has grown to a height of two miles. Men of the New Zealand government steamer Tutanakahi, which arrived here today, said they witnessed the phenomenon yesterday afternoon.

After appearing above the waves in 1885, Falcon Island partially disappeared, but years later it was again upheaved. It is by latitude 20.50 south and longitude 175.50 west.

AMERICAN HELD BY CHINA ARMY

Peking Legation Seeking Information
Demand Will be Made for His Release
Only One Authentic Killing So Far Reported

PEKING, April 26. (AP)—The American Legation was investigating a report today that L. C. Osborn of the Nazarene mission at Chaochong, Western Shantung, had been taken prisoner by the Nationalist army in their advance across that province. He was said to have been taken to Kailchow Chi, in Southern Chihli. The Consul-General at Hankow was instructed to investigate the report and seek the release of Osborn if he proved to be a captive.

ONLY ONE SLAYING

The only confirmed instance of an American being harmed in the war zone was the shooting of Dr. Walter P. Seymour, superintendent of the Presbyterian Hospital at Tsinan, Southern Shantung, by a Chinese soldier in a Chaochong Western Shantung, had been taken prisoner by the Nationalist army in their advance across that province. He was said to have been taken to Kailchow Chi, in Southern Chihli. The Consul-General at Hankow was instructed to investigate the report and seek the release of Osborn if he proved to be a captive.

AMERICANS LOCATED

A consular survey of Americans in the battle area completed yesterday showed that they were distributed as follows: Inchowfu, two; Tenghsien, five; Taining, three; Yen-chowfu, one; and Tainan, fifteen. The American and British missionaries at Tainanfu asked to be evacuated by the consuls there have been unable to get transportation for them at present. The British Consul of Chaochow, toward which northern deserters were reported heading, advised the British to go to Weihaiwei or elsewhere.

A Japanese regiment arrived at Tsinan, capital of Shantung, which has fallen into the hands of Nationalists.

MISSION RECEIVES REPORT OF CAPTURE

KANSAS CITY, April 26. (AP)—Word of the capture of L. C. Osborn, Nazarene missionary, by Chinese soldiers was received at the Nazarene mission headquarters here yesterday. The information was contained in an unsigned cablegram from Tien-tsin, China, which said: "Military holding L. C. Osborn interior, counsel has referred to awaiting results. Do not anticipate any danger."

It was assumed the message was from G. P. Deale, Nazarene Mission at Tien-tsin.

Mr. Osborn, whose home is in Ottumstead, Pa., has been in China since 1914 when he went there with the Houlding Independent Mission. He has been a missionary of the church of the Nazarenes since 1915.

He was stationed at Chaochong in Western Shantung Province, but for the past year has had his headquarters at Tien-tsin, because of the trouble in the interior.

It was assumed at the church headquarters here that he may have gone back to Chaochong, where dispatches from Peking reported he was captured, on an inspection trip. It was believed also he might have been accompanied by Rev. Peter Klehn, Pasadena, Cal., missionary superintendent, who recently went to China to inspect the mission.

BOYS FIND SKULL ON FEATHER RIVER

OROVILLE, April 26. (AP)—A human skull found by boys on a bar of the Feather River, near here, was declared by Coroner Hamilton to be probably that of J. V. Whalman of Shawnee, Okla., who committed suicide by drowning in the river last year, or of a Mexican accidentally drowned at Rocky Bar last April.

THE worst thing about the Typical Town Booster is that his sincerity is clear to any one who thinks, since anything he has is for sale.

When he shows you his home you know he is trying to sell it to you. When he shows you his town you know he is trying to sell it, too. And you even get suspicious when he introduces you to his family.

No man who really believed his town was the one and only earthly paradise would be willing to sell out every stick and stone he owns in it no matter what the price. But your T. T. B. has his price for everything.

That's why we see booms which burst. Whenever men love this or that so much that they would much rather sell it than keep it conditions are bound to be unstable.

What neighborhood could ever "run down" if the people who owned it were not trying their utmost to sell out and move to some swifter neighborhood? Yet how those would-be sellers boast that neighborhood to every possible purchaser!

That shows the difference between patriotism and boosting. You can't build up any real patriotism on boosting which is designed to apply. Yes, all to prices.

Yes, Palestine, when I listen to the legend of professional town boosters it seems to me that every boost's a knock.

MINNEAPOLIS MILLERS TIE WITH HOLLYWOOD

Battling through two fierce overtime periods, the Minneapolis Millers and Hollywood Millionaires finished all even here at the Winter Garden last night. The score was 2 to 2 when the tired puck chasers skated off the ice after one of the most thrilling games ever seen here.

Minneapolis jumped into the lead at the start, Johnson and Goodman scoring for the visitors in the first period. Shortly afterward Goodman, one of the fastest and best-known hockey players in the game, was seriously injured when he collided with Peaches Headley of the Hollywood club. Goodman's back was badly sprained. He was removed to the Dicky Case Hospital where his back was placed in a cast. There was no scoring in the second period.

In the third stanza, after 14 minutes of play, Lou Brundage tied the score by banging the puck into the net. The teams were tied at the end of the regulation playing time and two overtime periods failed to break the tie.

Minneapolis has won two games and tied the third. The fourth contest is billed for Saturday night.

The line-ups: Minneapolis—Goal, Johnson; Defense, Goodman; Forwards, Johnson, Goodman, Johnson. Hollywood—Goal, Johnson; Defense, Goodman; Forwards, Johnson, Goodman, Johnson.

FAMOUS FRANKS SET FOR SPEED DUEL

Wykoff and Lombardi Carry Hopes of Teams Tomorrow

BY HEAVEN DYER

WHEN fair-haired Frank Wykoff faces black-headed Frank Lombardi at the Coliseum tomorrow afternoon Los Angeles track fans will watch these two great sprinters ring down the curtain on their respective prep careers. The two famous Franks graduate in June, Wykoff from Glendale High and Lombardi from Los Angeles. They will meet but once more as prep—but not before local fans, as the State meet is scheduled for Selma.

No high-school athlete ever went into a meet with a heavier burden on his shoulders than that which Wykoff carries tomorrow. His team holds the Southern California and State championships. In order to retain the Southern California title Frank must win the 100 and 200 and take first in the broad jump. If he slips in any of these events his team stands to be beaten out by L. A. High Santa Ana, or perhaps Long Beach.

Lombardi is faced with a tremendous task himself. He has to defeat Wykoff in one of the two dashes. Due to the fact that L. A. High qualified more men than Glendale, Lombardi's burden is not quite so heavy as Wykoff's, but it is equally difficult, for prep sprinters don't defeat the great Glendale galloper very often.

MUCH IN COMMON

The two runners have much in common. They have the same front name, Frank, and they are 19 years of age. Lombardi had his birthday early this month, while Wykoff won't really be 19 until October 29. They are both going to college in the State of California. Each has had scores of offers from institutions of learning all over the country. Wykoff is said to be leaning toward Stanford or Southern California. Lombardi doesn't say which way he leans, if any; but declares he'll get his higher education in this State.

Black-haired Frank was born in Los Angeles. His folks are Italian. Fair-haired Frank isn't a "naked" son, but he's the next best thing to it—having been born in Iowa.

Lombardi almost quit track for football. Two years ago he wanted to turn out for the grid sport at L. A. High. It was spring then and he said to himself, "If I don't run 10 flat this spring I'll take up football in the fall." He ran 10 flat and that ended what might have been a promising football career.

Lombardi is captain of the L. A. High baseball team this year. He plays third base. This is his third season on the team. Last year and the season before that he tried minor league baseball, but his track didn't. He was fourth to

JONES BEATEN BY STRATFORD

Davis Cup Star Boxes to Coast Net Ace

Tilden and Allison Capture Clashes; Meet Today

Peggy James Takes Trimming from Dorothy Workman

OJAI, April 26. (Exclusive)—Arnold Jones, Davis Cup star, fell before the brilliant stroking of Gerald Stratford.

Southern California tennis champion, in the biggest upset of the opening day's play for the annual Ojai championship, Stratford won in straight sets, 7-5, 6-4, which tells next to nothing of the sparkling battle waged by the two Southern title-holders.

Jones was particularly impressive in practice yesterday when he and Bill Tilden battled the ball all over the court with dazzling speed and accuracy. Stratford, however, was at his best today and after winning the first set in an extra-game battle, held the upper hand throughout.

The remaining members of the Davis Cup team came through to win their matches, and tomorrow's semifinal round for the men's singles championship will bring Tilden and Wilmer Allison together in one bracket, and Stratford and Hennessey together in the other.

Bob Varlet of the Los Angeles Tennis Club gave Allison a battle for a while, but succumbed in the second set. Allison had an advantage, 5-1, in the first set when Varlet came back to carry the attack. The Davis Cup netter finally won, 6-4, and took the second set easily, 6-1.

Tilden and Jones and Allison and Hennessey were easy victors in the men's doubles, and will probably meet in the final for the championship.

Mrs. Peggy James Stratford fell before Dorothy Workman of the El Monte High School to furnish an upset in the women's singles event. Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Midge Chisum, the favorites, were among the sixteen survivors still remaining.

WEATHERSBY BESTS HASTY IN EXCITING MOUND DUEL

Angels Make It Three in Row Over Oakland and Go Into Tie for Third Place With Solons

BY BOB RAY

Gale Staley, feeling the spring urge for a new suit, rapped out his first home run of the season with the man out in the ninth inning to give Marty Krug's ambitious Angels a 3-to-2 victory over Oakland in yesterday's thrill-producing at Wrigley Field.

Staley's circuit swing, which scored the season's first home run for the Angels, broke up an exciting hurling duel between Tex Weathersby and Hasty

Joshua Little

BY LEE SHIPPEY

THE worst thing about the Typical Town Booster is that his sincerity is clear to any one who thinks, since anything he has is for sale.

When he shows you his home you know he is trying to sell it to you. When he shows you his town you know he is trying to sell it, too. And you even get suspicious when he introduces you to his family.

No man who really believed his town was the one and only earthly paradise would be willing to sell out every stick and stone he owns in it no matter what the price. But your T. T. B. has his price for everything.

That's why we see booms which burst. Whenever men love this or that so much that they would much rather sell it than keep it conditions are bound to be unstable.

What neighborhood could ever "run down" if the people who owned it were not trying their utmost to sell out and move to some swifter neighborhood? Yet how those would-be sellers boast that neighborhood to every possible purchaser!

That shows the difference between patriotism and boosting. You can't build up any real patriotism on boosting which is designed to apply bits of all to prices.

Yes, Palestine, when I listen to the loudest of professional town boosters it seems to me that every booster's a knave.

Hollywood Squad Gets 8-to-7 Victory Over Beavers in North

PORTLAND (AP) April 26. (AP)—Hollywood beat out Portland today, 8 to 7, in a game of wild baseball. The Stars took an early lead on Shellenback's home run with two on, in the second, but it took three more runs to hold the lead. Portland had to go in cold in the ninth when Al Smith's long single knocked in one run and the Beavers still had two on base. He stopped the tie.

POWER UTILITY PROFITS MOUNT

San Joaquin Company Issues Earnings Statement

Net Gain Over Previous Year Given as 28 Per Cent

Increase of $2.30 Per Share on Preferred Shown

Net income available for preferred dividends of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation for the twelve months ended March 31, last, increased more than 28 per cent over the preceding twelve months, due largely to an unusually heavy agricultural pumping load this spring, according to an earnings statement released yesterday by the company.

Net income after all charges for the period, before preferred dividends, amounted to $2,411,027.59 as compared with $1,882,047.97 for the corresponding twelve months of last year, a gain of $528,979.62. This is equivalent to $10.64 a share on 230,647 shares of preferred stock outstanding as against $8.20 a share in the previous twelve months, based on the same capitalization.

Gross operating revenue for the twelve-month period aggregated $9,338,105.78, as compared with $8,794,471.58 in the preceding period, an increase of $543,634.20, or 6.14 per cent. Total operating expenses, including maintenance and taxes, amounted to $7,927,228.34, as against $8,008,615.58 for the previous twelve months. This is a decrease of $81,387.24, or 2.38 per cent.

After sundry earnings, total net income amounted to $4,509,156.25, as against $4,967,999.96 in the former period, an increase of $458,843.71. Net interest charges increased from $1,973,368.49 in the preceding twelve months, to $2,016,322.82.

Tone of Local Trade Uneven

Banks report plentiful funds available for all commercial and agricultural needs, according to the weekly survey of Los Angeles business by Bradstreet's. Larger electrical-supply companies selling to public utilities and manufacturers report business good, while the jobbing electrical-supply trade is quiet. Citrus marketing conditions were good last week with sales exceeding shipments, though the produce market was not good due to heavy receipts with weaker prices. The retail trade generally reports business as fair. Furniture manufacturers and retailers report sales below a year ago, which in turn was below the same period of 1936.

EARNINGS OF ESPEE INCREASE

Report for First 1938 Quarter Shows Gain on 1927 at 18 Per Cent

Net railway operating income of the Southern Pacific Company for the first quarter of the year increased $1,456,521.12, or approximately 18 per cent, from $12,719,860 reported in the corresponding period of last year, to $14,176,381.12 for the first three months ended March 31, last, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company.

March net railway operating income amounted to $4,509,156.25, which is a gain of $782,509.39, or more than 20 per cent above $3,726,646.87 reported in March, 1927.

Although total railway operating revenue of $67,313,728.85 for the quarter, was slightly below that of 1927, a reduction in operating expenses of $1,857,228.85 to $51,795,379.62 left a balance for net revenue from railway operations of $15,518,349.23. This is a gain of $1,290,529.97, or more than 9 per cent, over the corresponding period of last year.

March railway operating expenses amounted to $17,792,771.96, as compared with $18,798,224.79 in March, 1927, a decrease of $1,005,452.83. Net revenue from railway operations increased $468,514.70 to $6,400,917.58.

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Leon P. Lora, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, today announced the sale of that road's holdings of Wabash and Lehigh Valley stocks to Pennsylvania Railroad for a cash consideration.

Sale of the foregoing securities by the Lores interests represents the end of the fifth trunk line project sponsored by Leon P. Lora. The settlement of the rivalry between Lora and the four trunk lines is attributed to Otto H. Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., bankers for several of the largest rail lines.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 26. (Exclusive)—Although there were no further seasonal developments in the weather news or forecasts on the conditions affecting the new cotton crop situation and outlook, the somewhat tardy recognition that it is developing a poor and late start in important sections from the bad weather prevailing at times the last four to six weeks, caused an influx of both heavy trade and southern buying orders to the market today.

They had accumulated overnight from the influence of the bullish activity of yesterday on which prices then had closed strong, with a net advance of about 20 to 40 points from Tuesday's quotations. That had brought prices up to the highest for nearly the last six months, was sufficiently impressive to cause also considerable new speculative buying among local cotton traders and Wall Street operators.

There was a maximum rise of about 50 points to prices for the general contract list by 2 o'clock. This developed in an accumulative way from an opening advance ranging from 15 to 30 points in yesterday's closing. The volume of business increased as business progressed with the best prices made during the fourth hour. Then May sold at about 21.25c per pound, with July going up to 21.04c. October of the new crop about 20.80c, December 20.60c and January 20.60c.

The Liverpool market followed the rise here of yesterday at the opening this morning closing at about 22 1/2 to 26 English points.

RESERVE SYSTEM INITIATED

Building and Loan Concerns Form Corporation to Extend Credit; Walker Tells Plan

BY EARLE E. CROWE
Creation of a reserve system for the building and loan companies in California was announced yesterday by George S. Walker, State Building and Loan Commissioner. This step, which Mr. Walker describes as the most significant in the history of building and loan companies in California, will take place today when articles will be filed for the incorporation of the Building and Loan Reserve Corporation.

In somewhat the same manner that the Federal Reserve System stands behind the banks in the United States, this reserve corporation, Mr. Walker explained, will stand ready to extend credit to building and loan companies in California. It will function as the credit reservoir for the 225 associations which now have resources of more than $300,000,000.

CERTIFICATES PLANNED
From its authorized capitalization of $3,000,000 the Building and Loan Reserve Corporation will immediately issue $500,000 of capital stock. Upon this outstanding capitalization the reserve corporation will have authority to extend its resources to $3,000,000. More than $500,000 of certificates for the present, however, it is planned to issue only $250,000 of 5 per cent certificates which will be used in the building and loan companies. From these operations the reserve corporation will have initial capital funds of $500,000.

To further provide a larger reserve for emergencies the Building and Loan Reserve Corporation, according to Mr. Walker, will probably ask subscribing associations to agree to invest in the reserve corporation's certificates up to 3 per cent of their assets if called upon to do so. The bulk of these certificates would be retired immediately after the particular emergency had passed.

Under this set-up, the ability of the reserve corporation to extend credit is capable of expansion to $12,000,000 by calling in $9,000,000 from the associations now having total resources of $300,000,000. Moreover, further elasticity is possible through the sale of the remainder of the authorized capital stock, and issuing additional certificates based on the enlarged outstanding capitalization.

Commissioner Walker, whose office has sponsored the reserve plan, described the purpose of the reserve corporation in this statement:

PURPOSE EXPLAINED
"To extend credit of building and loan associations possessing sound assets, upon it being shown there is a real necessity therefor, and on presentation by the borrowing corporation of ample security in the nature of assigned deeds of trust."

The original issued capital stock proceeds, according to Mr. Walker, will be invested in government securities. Proceeds from the sale of certificates to building and loan companies will also largely go into government securities, with a ten-cent allowance for investment in deeds of trust earning the normal building and loan rate in order to average up earnings.

Seventeen directors, chosen from associations throughout the State, will administer the affairs of the reserve corporation. The list includes: Charles H. Tucker, president of the California Building-Loan League; Long Beach; Gilbert B. Besenyer, Los Angeles; Paul Endicott, Pomona; A. E. Fisher, former State Building and Loan Commissioner, San Francisco; H. A. Stern, Culver City; W. S. Gould, Oakland; P. A. Chittenden, San Mateo; J. B. Symons, San Francisco; Charles E. McFarland, Berkeley; Charles Swanton, Hollywood; Milo Robbins, San Francisco; Walter Bontheim, San Jose; H. C. Jones, San Jose; S. M. Anderson, Inglewood; H. S. Wanser, Sacramento; and Charles O. Hine, San Francisco.

The reserve plan is going into effect at this time principally because of the rapid growth of the associations are making, Mr. Walker said. In the first quarter of the year cash resources in the State increased $23,500,000, of which $16,000,000 has already been loaned.

LIFE POLICIES GAIN

Sales for First Quarter of 1938 Show 1 Per Cent Increase

Sales of ordinary life insurance for the first three months of the year increased 3 per cent over the same period of last year, while March sales, which were $100,000,000 greater than February, were $5,000,000 less than March of last year, and totaled $82,250,000. The Pacific Coast section reports production somewhat under last year, both for March and for the quarter. Oregon leads with a monthly increase of 6 per cent and a gain of 2 per cent for the quarter. Sales for this twelve-month period is 1 per cent higher in the Coast section than that of the corresponding period last year.

TWO DEPUTIES ADDED TO SOUTHERN OFFICE

Two new deputies are being added to the Los Angeles office of the California Building and Loan Commissioner. It was announced yesterday, C. E. Vogt is coming to the department and C. C. Barnes is being transferred from the San Francisco office. Roy Dorothy, now in charge of the Los Angeles office, will supervise the examination of all of the associations in the State south of Santa Barbara.

FARM PRODUCTS ADVANCING

Unseasonable Weather Over Large Producing Area Aids Upturn in Many Commodities

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT
Copyright, 1938, by New York Evening Post, Inc.
NEW YORK, April 26.—An old adage has it that the rain falls alike on the just and the unjust, but so far this year it has fallen too heavily on some sections and not enough on others. The uneven distribution of moisture over the country at the beginning of the 1938 growing season limits the prospect for bumper crops, but it is accelerating the rise in agricultural products.

Wheat prices under the influence of the bullish weather reports have jumped 25 per cent in the last two months, attaining the best price for the commodity in two years, but in the last few days new highs for the season likewise have been made in corn, cotton, rice and oats. How far this emphatic recovery in agricultural values will extend nobody knows at this early date, but the fact remains that a widespread recovery in leading farm commodities now is in process.

Without here going into the details of the weather reports the outstanding conditions in control of the markets may be set down. East of the Mississippi the farmer has been confronted with a late season, too much rain and cold weather. Not only have these adverse climatic conditions killed the winter wheat in many sections but they have postponed spring planting.

The farmer in the Southwest likewise is in trouble, but his complaint is against the drought and dry winds. If reports from the interior may be relied upon, bad growing conditions have been reported as far west as Washington, Idaho and Oregon, there have been delays in planting.

Reports of this character always have their cheerful and gloomy aspects. Marketwise restrictions on the 1938 production are destined to increase handsomely the price at which growers may sell their products. And rising prices usually stimulate optimism. The fact remains, however, that under such conditions growers will not have as much to haul to market.

Unfavorable growing conditions for winter wheat were offset by an improvement in the Northwest where spring wheat is widely grown, perhaps the rise in the commodity of late wheat have been so spectacular. What has happened is that simultaneous with the advent of unfavorable growing conditions for winter wheat, there have been so many reports of a late season, too much rain and cold weather. Not only have these adverse climatic conditions killed the winter wheat in many sections but they have postponed spring planting.

CHATHAM PHENIX NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, Trustee

Mr. O. R. Seagraves, President of the Company, has made the following summary of his letter to us:

BUSINESS: Houston Gulf Gas Company, a Delaware corporation, and its subsidiaries, produce, transport and distribute natural gas. In point of territory served, volume of gas sold, and extent of gas reserves, it is one of the leading natural gas systems in the United States. The Company, through its subsidiaries: (a) Houston Gas and Fuel Company, distributes gas in Houston, Texas; (b) Southern Gas Company supplies gas for distribution in San Antonio and distributes directly to many customers outside the limits of San Antonio; (c) Southern Gas Utilities, Inc., distributes gas in New Braunfels, Seguin, Hondo, D'Hanis and other communities west and northeast of San Antonio and serves important industrial enterprises in this territory; also supplies gas for distribution in Brownsville, San Benito and other communities along the lower Rio Grande Valley; (d) Western Gas and Fuel Company, supplies gas for distribution in Austin, the capital of Texas. The company supplies gas directly for boiler fuel to Houston Lighting and Power Company, the electric company in Houston, and supplies directly Sinclair Refining Company, Texas Portland Cement Company and other large industrial consumers in and around Houston.

TERRITORY: The territory supplied is the center of a district rich in cotton, oil, sulphur, lumber, fruit and produce. Its population, which is growing rapidly, is estimated to be in excess of 650,000. Houston and San Antonio, both important railroad and commercial centers, are two of the largest cities in Texas. Houston, with the development of its ship channel to the Gulf of Mexico, is now one of the important seaports of the South, while San Antonio is the most important commercial gateway to Mexico.

PROPERTY: Houston Gulf Gas Company will own, upon completion of this financing, the entire common stock of Houston Gas and Fuel Company and over 93% of the common stock of Southern Gas Company, which owns 88% of the common stock of Southern Gas Utilities, Inc., and 100% of the stock of Western Gas and Fuel Company. The Company has valuable gas purchase contracts with Dixie Gulf Gas Company and others extensively augmenting and diversifying its gas resources, and has leases or gas purchase contracts covering over 300,000 acres of land in South Texas; has 232 producing wells in 14 separate gas fields with total proven gas reserves estimated in excess of 275,000,000,000 cubic feet, and has over 1344 miles of trunk pipe lines, 724 miles of pipe lines and five compressing stations, aggregating 6260 h. p. In the opinion of Ralph E. Davis, Engineer, the property and assets of Houston Gulf Gas Company and its subsidiaries have a value not less than $38,000,000.

SECURITY: These Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be secured by a first mortgage on the fixed assets of the Company comprising 299 miles of pipe lines, gas rights on over 75,000 acres of land in 8 separate gas fields (subject to any farm mortgages and other liens) and 3 compressing stations of 5780 h. p. capacity, all of which, in the opinion of Ralph E. Davis, represent a value of not less than $16,000,000. They will be further secured through deposit with the Trustee of all the common stock of Houston Gas and Fuel Company and over 93% of the present outstanding common stock of Southern Gas Company.

EARNINGS: Consolidated earnings of Houston Gulf Gas Company for the twelve months ended December 31, 1927, and of subsidiaries, as presently constituted, for the periods indicated below, have been certified to by Arthur Andersen & Co. Such earnings, adjusted to give effect to elimination of certain non-recurring expenses aggregating $70,000 and to prior charges, are as follows:

Gross Revenues (including Other Income)	$5,539,628.20
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Local Taxes (including charges of $417,063.52 for abandoned wells and forfeited leases)	2,841,390.71
Balance	$2,698,237.49
Net Earnings available for interest charges of Houston Gulf Gas Company after deducting bond interest and preferred stock dividends on subsidiary companies together with earnings accruing to minority stock but before Federal taxes, amortization charges and reserves for depreciation, depletion, etc.	2,080,585.53
Annual interest on $11,000,000 First Mortgage and Collateral 6% Bonds (this issue)	660,000.00
Balance	$1,420,585.53

The above consolidated earnings include Houston Gulf Gas Co. for the six months from date of organization to December 31, 1927; Houston Gas & Fuel Co., Southern Gas Co. and Western Gas & Fuel Co. for the six months from date of organization to January 31, 1928.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Proceeds from the sale of these Bonds, $8,000,000 Debentures and $1,500,000 Preferred Stock, will be used to retire the Company's present funded debt; to acquire the common stocks above referred to of Houston Gas and Fuel Company, and Southern Gas Company and the properties of Houston Gulf Pipe Line Company, for working capital and for other corporate purposes.

These bonds are offered under an indenture and are subject to the approval of stockholders and of counsel. All legal matters in connection with this issue will be passed upon for the Houston Gulf Gas Company by Arthur Andersen & Co., Inc., Engineers, Architects and Surveyors, who will also pass upon title to Texas property and all other matters of Texas law. Engineering reports by Ralph E. Davis, Engineer, and James G. Lewis, Geology reports by Ralph E. Davis, Geology, are on file with the Trustee, Arthur Andersen & Co., Inc. It is expressed that Temporary Bonds or interim receipts will be ready for delivery on or about May 15, 1928.

LOS ANGELES DEDICATES IMPOSING NEW CITY HALL

Milestone in Civic Progress Hailed in Parade, Formal Acceptance and Lighting of Beacon

Where 147 years ago the sanadated padres and the booted dons trod deserted plains, yesterday a city of upward of 1,500,000 people gathered to dedicate the new Los Angeles City Hall, a sheer tower of white symbolizing a new era of progress and accomplishment for the Pacific Southwest.

The $9,000,000 public building, the largest in the West and one of the most distinctive in the world, was accepted on behalf of the people of Los Angeles by Mayor Croyer yesterday as the high point of ceremonies, magnificent in the panoply of peace.

Last night, just at dusk, the Lindbergh beacon, a monument to the noted aviator, flashed its beam of light across the sky, its impulse coming from a golden key touched in Washington by President Coolidge.

Then the unique and beautiful lighting system of the building was turned on and the tower sprang out of the darkness in all its glory of variegated lights, a landmark for miles around. The beacon itself is visible for sixty miles.

COOLIDGE MESSAGE READ

A message from the President was read by President Eastman of the Chamber of Commerce, which dedicated the beacon, after the dedication had been made by George J. Watson, Times staff photographer, at the time of Col. Lindbergh's visit here.

The dedicatory parade, in four divisions and comprising more than 25,000 persons, with thirty-four bands, started promptly at 10 a.m. and such was the length of the procession that its march was not completed until 1 p.m.

Military units were present in abundance; most of the 16,000 city employees took part, while industries, including motion pictures, provided floats to show the strength and progress of Southern California. More than 250,000 persons, it was estimated, thronged the streets to watch the parade. The parade, passed by the old City Hall on Broadway, which when it was constructed, forty years ago, was deemed sufficient for all times.

UNITY OF STATE TYPIFIED

The ceremonies yesterday typified the union of California, just as the California stone is commingled in the construction of the building.

Mayor Ralph of San Francisco lent his presence to the affair, acting as a representative of the great part of California outside Los Angeles. He was not alone, however, for communities and counties from all over the State were represented, both in the parade and in the Mayor's reception, which followed it.

Popular esteem gave the palm to the Chinese division of the parade. "Chinatown certainly put the best on Hollywood," said one citizen.

LION DISPELS EVIL SPIRITS

A feature of the Chinese division was the lion of the mountain, who comes down on New Year's and is fed at each doorway, in exchange for which favor he drives away all evil spirits.

"I hope he manages to do it at the new City Hall," said another citizen.

All afternoon bands made music at the south entrance of the building, where the land now is being prepared for a park. The ceremonies will continue today with public inspection of the building, while tomorrow evening there will be a pageant by the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West.

At noon luncheon was served to 500 guests at the Biltmore. The luncheon, which was supervised by Fred Frank, chairman of the city-

LINDBERGH LIGHT ALSO DEDICATED
Beacon Atop City Hall Turned on by Coolidge and His Best Wishes Sent

Twenty-nine years ago yesterday President William McKinley pressed a button in the White House releasing the first happen-hill of rock to start the San Pedro break-water.

Twenty-nine years later to a day President Coolidge pressed a button which turned on a beacon atop the new City Hall.

One was a forerunner of ocean commerce, the other of air commerce. Both were attended by three-day celebrations and a parade.

The Lindbergh beacon erected by the Chamber of Commerce atop the gleaming white tower of the new City Hall was formally dedicated last night when President Coolidge lighted it by pressing a telegraph instrument of the White House.

The dedicatory exercises formed a spectacular climax to the official opening of the new building. For thirty minutes the building was kept dark as the beaming beacon turned silently on its pivot and cast the message of Los Angeles' civic progress and development as an aviation center in a circle 120 miles in diameter.

Thousands of persons gathered around and gazed skyward. Municipal Judge Wilson introduced President Eastman of the Chamber of Commerce, who broadcast the dedicatory address. At the close of his speech, music was furnished. The building was lighted again and the crowds were permitted to continue their inspection.

The beacon now will be kept in operation nightly.

Lighting of the beacon by a touch of the President's hand was made possible through the co-operation of the Western Union Telegraph Company, which kept a circuit open for one hour prior to the dedication. This service was rendered gratis in the same spirit of civic pride which marked other contributions to the success of the opening-day ceremonies.

In his address Mr. Eastman pointed out that the Chamber of Commerce has dedicated the light to the future of aviation in this community. After reading a letter in which President Coolidge expressed his good wishes to this city and his pleasure in lighting the beacon, the speaker declared with great light symbolic of the faith of Los Angeles in the future.

"May this beacon guide us in the future great development of aviation to which we are all looking forward, and may it be an inspiration to us that real accomplishment comes with it the same calm

Mayor Accepts Great Civic Monument With Best Wishes of State for City's Progress

With the benedictions of her neighbors showering in upon her from the length and breadth of the great golden State of California, Los Angeles formally dedicated her new City Hall yesterday in a pageantry of color, of song, of word and of reverence that is the very life of the city itself.

Gathered at the base of the great white shaft reaching into the heavens and glittering in the afternoon sun, a throng of some 15,000 persons participated in the dedicatory exercises. As speaker followed

GREAT PARADE STIRS CITY
Colorful Chinese Floats Prove Feature of Five-Mile Tribute to New Civic Building

People of a nation that was old long before the New World was found yesterday led the way with oriental splendor in a civic tribute to Los Angeles' finest public building—the new City Hall. The entire city, aided by neighboring communities, joined in the Dedication Day parade, one of the greatest that ever passed through the streets of the metropolis, but it remained for the residents of Chinatown—that somewhat mysterious little section of mingled East and West near the Plaza—to show the way to the occidentals from a standpoint of colorful participation.

With the usual American salutes, to quantify the parade extended for at least five miles. Exactly two hours and twelve minutes was needed for the line of march to pass a given point.

NOTHING MISSING

In the main it was a typical American city parade on a civic occasion, but on a larger scale. There were the usual bands; the usual marching organizations, some in uniform and some just marching. There were soldiers, sailors, pretty girls and children. There were elaborate floats, decorated automobiles and automobiles undraped. There even was a lion atop a huge float. And at one point there was a modern automobile parade vying in musical production

Quander! Well!
The simple and innocent tale left to the world by Isadora Duncan—"My Life"—should be served with chili as a cooling lotion.
Isadora not only tells with naïveté of the love affairs that she had, but speaks with anguished regret and unconvincing exasperation of several that she missed—owing to the misguided chivalry of the unattainable male.

Speaking for the Southwest Olympic Athletic Carnival in the afternoon, June 16 the Junior Chamber of Commerce had as its guest speaker yesterday, Bob Weaver, president of the Southern California Olympic Games Committee.

At the Olympic games, this year, Weaver said, our ability to have a good game of representation in all sports is "untested," he explained. "We have been called upon to make $75,000 as its share of the Olympic fund of the nation for two years."

TWO REASONS

"First, we have been promised the medal in 1932, which will bring us closer to Southern California than the fifty-two nations coming for international honors. Second, we have been promised the medal in 1932, which will bring us closer to Southern California than the fifty-two nations coming for international honors."

He said upon the 200 athletes of the nation upon their heads as America's ambassadors of peace and better citizenship."

VOICES GRATEFUL

Mr. Weaver thanked the Junior Chamber of Commerce and its 800 members for the assistance that is given to the June carnival, especially to the speech committee.

Seated at the head table were Mrs. C. W. Smith, crack trainer; Bud Smith, champion shot put and discus; Charles Smith and Walter Smith, speed men of the cinder track; and Lyman Johnson, executive member in piano solos. Posts of County Will Vie for Cup Offered for Best
District Showing

American Legion posts in the county yesterday were urged to make intensive campaigns in their respective districts to get voters to the polls for next Tuesday's primary election. To the district where the greatest vote is cast in proportion to the registration, a cup will be awarded by Perry Weidner.

This is a nonpartisan effort on the part of the Legion," said Commander C. J. Turner of the Los Angeles County Council of the Legion. "We are only interested in getting out the vote."

Women of Bar to Meet With Men Members

The Women Lawyers' Club, through its president, Mrs. Edna C. Plummer, has received an invitation from the Los Angeles Bar Association to participate in a joint meeting in May, the program to be in charge of the women attorneys. This is the first joint meeting they have ever planned.

"While individual professional women always have received fair recognition," said President Plummer, "as a group their hard-earned achievement has had far less than its share of public attention. Only the most reactionary minds still cling to the notion of man's exclusive rights in the field of legal practice."

Women speakers, whose names shortly will be announced, will appear at the joint meeting. The club has a membership of seventy, the majority of whom also are members of the association.

Fire Damages
Three Garages
and One House

Fire that started in a garage in the rear of 230 South Grandview avenue yesterday spread to two other garages and a two-story house, causing damage estimated at $15,000. The buildings damaged were: garage, 230 South Grandview avenue; George Williams, owner; garage, 234 Grandview avenue, owned by B. C. Wright; two-story house, 212 Grandview avenue, Albert Wey, owner; and garage at 214 Grandview avenue, H. W. Hagen, owner.

TRANSIENT SENTENCED
AFTER STORE HOLD-UP

DEFENDANT USED BOTTLE TO MENACE CUSTOMERS, SAYS
PROSECUTOR

Captured after he is asserted to have held up a store at 1011 Central avenue by menacing patrons and employees with an upraised bottle, Henry Horn, 37 years of age, transient, was sentenced to 180 days in the City Jail yesterday by Municipal Judge Wilson.

Policeman Frey, who happened to be passing, chased the defendant to the rear of 1153 East 5th street, where he found him hiding in a shed. Deputy City Prosecutor Marcell told the court. Mrs. K. Fujiyama, employee of the store, reported that Horn took $24 from the cash register after threatening to kill her with the bottle if she came near.

Horn was given the maximum sentence under the misdemeanor charge of petty theft. The District Attorney's office refused to file a robbery charge against him and referred the matter to City Prosecutor Lickley.

LECTURE ON PIMAS
AT MUSEUM SATURDAY

The special feature for the Saturday morning program for boys and girls at the Southwest Museum, will be a talk on the mode of life and the various arts of the Pima Indians by Mrs. N. H. Pinkley. Mrs. Pinkley has spent twenty-five years among the Pima Indians on their reservation and has made a special study of their basketry. This will be followed by the regular group work in Indian crafts, handicrafts and games, story-telling and handicrafts for the smaller children.

KNOTTY NUPTIAL SNARL UNWOUND

Judge Gives Ruling in Case of Off-Tied Woman

Action Aimed at Remarriage Before Final Decree

Court Says Man Can't Wed Own Wife or Vice Versa

A knotty snarl relative to the law governing divorce in California was unraveled yesterday by Judge Long in Superior Court in the case of Mrs. Francis Montgomery-Baer-McGuire.

In this case Judge Long holds that if a man or a woman obtains an interlocutory decree of divorce, and before the final one is entered a remarriage takes place, the remarriage does not automatically void the interlocutory decree, and either party at the end of a year may enter the final decree and be divorced.

THE LEGAL WAY OUT

The legal and proper way is to petition the court in the regular manner to have the interlocutory set aside before the remarriage is consummated.

Some judges have held that remarriage automatically cancels an interlocutory decree, but Judge Long contends that a man cannot marry his own wife, or a woman her own husband; that an interlocutory decree is not a divorce and the couple still is married until the final decree is entered.

Mrs. McGuire obtained a divorce from William F. Montgomery in 1918. Before the final decree was entered they were reconciled and remarried. They separated again and then Mrs. Montgomery caused the final decree to be entered. She then married Ben Baer. He died. Her next marriage was to Patrick McGuire.

FIRST MATE STEPS IN

Montgomery entered into the tangled web, this time seeking the custody of two minor children. He filed a suit for divorce asserting that his second marriage to Mrs. Montgomery was legal; that she was still his wife and that her marriage to Baer and McGuire were null and void.

With her attorney, Griffith Jones, Mrs. Montgomery-Baer-McGuire fought the matter in court before Judge Long, the court holding that at the time the Montgomerys remarried they were already married and that the second marriage was without effect and that the final decree of divorce was valid.

The decision affects vitally many marital cases where remarriage has taken place with interlocutory decrees in effect which have not been properly canceled by the court as the time of the reconciliation.

PASADENA RE-ELECTED TO OFFICE

Mrs. Foster Again Heads Baptist Mission Societies of Southland

Mrs. H. W. Foster of Pasadena was re-elected president of the South Pacific district of the Women's American Baptist Mission Societies at the annual election of the organization yesterday at the First Baptist Church. Mrs. George M. Thomas of Oakland was re-elected missionary vice-president. Other officers were elected as follows:

Administration vice-president, Mrs. W. E. Smith of Los Angeles; recording secretary, Mrs. R. L. Rodgers, Pasadena; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. H. Kiehl, Los Angeles; treasurer, Mrs. H. O. Schoemaker, Los Angeles.

Department secretaries for the district, which includes California, Nevada and Arizona, were elected as follows: World-wide guild, Mrs. D. W. Schlosser, Venice; children's world crusade, Mrs. E. G. Peck, Los Angeles; college counselor, Mrs. Clark A. Bancroft, Berkeley; White Cross director, Miss Clara A. Mahew, Pasadena; missionary education, Mrs. Harold R. Larnia, Oakland; literature, Mrs. Mary I. Stanford, Oakland; Christian Americanization, Mrs. C. N. Scott, Oakland; editor, Missionary Movement, Mrs. George M. Thomas, Alameda; candidate secretary, Mrs. J. M. Davis, Oakland; chairman of civics, Mrs. O. J. Oliver, Pasadena.

Progressive Baptist missionary work in China was discussed by Miss Jane Lawrence and Miss Ethel Ryan told of her Christianization work among the Hopi Indians of Arizona. Other speakers included Mrs. H. W. Bykes, Mrs. Prudence Worley of Chicago, Miss Janet McKay and Mrs. J. M. Brough. Installation of new officers was conducted by Mrs. G. G. Van Zandt of San Diego.

Pershing Square Change Planned

Tentative plans have been made by Superintendent Frank Shearer of the Los Angeles Park Department to change the arrangement of plants and trees in Pershing Square so that it will be tropical in aspect, rather than semitropical as at present.

Pending approval by the Board of Park Commissioners, the plans to have stately palms and tropical growth where now there are lawns or trees, which lose their foliage in the winter months. The idea is to show what can be grown in the climate of Los Angeles and to have the park green all the year round.

DESPOUNDING WOMAN HANDS SELF IN GARAGE

Mrs. Grace Hamilton, 63 years of age, yesterday hanged herself in the garage of her home, 5314 Tenth avenue, according to a police report. The woman was found by her husband, B. A. Hamilton. Worry over financial affairs is believed by police to have caused the woman's act.

BABY STOWS AWAY IN AUTO

Tagged Mite Found as Parade Goes By

On His Own Mrs. Ruth Forrest and infant she found apparently abandoned

APPARENTLY abandoned by his mother, a 3-week-old baby boy was found in a parked car at Eighth and Spring streets while the parade was passing yesterday by Mrs. Ruth Forrest, 1819½ Scott avenue. She took the infant to Officer Rodgers, who sent him to the Hill-street Receiving Hospital.

A tag on the baby's wrist indicates that he is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Roberts, 3728 East Fifty-fourth street. Detectives are searching for her, as she no longer lives at that address. The automobile in which the child was found belongs to M. T. Eaton of Hillcrest Drive, the Hill-street Receiving Hospital.

SCHOOL WEEK ENDS TODAY

Several Programs and Speeches Arranged for Tonight Under Masonic Auspices

Characterized as the most successful in history, the ninth annual Public Schools Week will come to an official close throughout the Southland tonight. The movement, sponsored by the Masonic Order, has the enthusiastic support of all Masonic Lodges, most of which co-operated with the nearest school in helping celebrate School Week.

Tonight Golden State Lodge will present a program in the auditorium of Soutwest Junior High School, starting at 8 o'clock. John Beaman, president of the Board of Education, will preside and Mrs. Susan Dorsey, City Superintendent of Schools, will be the principal speaker. Frank Bourne, assistant city postmaster, is master of the Golden State Lodge. The musical numbers will be presented by students of Soutwest High and Fairfax High Schools.

PROGRAM AT FAIRFAX

A program also will be given at Fairfax High School, sponsored by Southland Lodge, at which W. W. Kays, master, will preside. Selections will be made by Laura Griffith and T. O. Rice are on the program. Ray Van Cleave, principal, will deliver the main address and Myron Peters will also deliver his prize-winning oration on the Constitution.

At both schools, as well as at all others which give programs tonight, exhibits of school work are a feature. Exhibits at Fairfax High School are being made by the art, agriculture, domestic art and mechanical arts departments, as well as others. Elementary schools also have exhibits on view.

JUDGE TO SPEAK

Judge McComb is to be the principal speaker at the program sponsored by Atwater Lodge, No. 622, at the Atwater-avenue school tonight. He will speak on "Masonry and Public Education." John Daggett of Benevolence Lodge, No. 631, will speak on "The Pathway of Human Life."

Practically all schools and many Masonic lodges in Southern California will have programs tonight. Among meetings which have announced their programs and speakers are Los Angeles High School, Bruce A. Funday, Sunset Temple, Howard A. Campion, and El Rodeo Auditorium, Beverly Hills, Dr. Dexter, president of Whittier College.

SHE'S A CHAMPION HOUSEWIFE!

IN the whole neighborhood there's no neater-looking house than Mrs. Derwent's—yet she gets results with the least effort.

For instance, to keep doors and woodwork spic and span, she puts a little Gold Dust in a pail, and fills it with warm water.

Then she just wipes the dirt away, and finishes with a cloth wrung out of clear water. No tiresome rubbing for her!

When there is much cleaning to be done, change to a fresh pail of water frequently—using only a little Gold Dust in each pailful of water.

This is better than to make a strong solution and keep on using the same dirty water.

Mrs. Derwent—and CHAMPION HOUSEWIVES everywhere—know dish-washing, too, is easier with Gold Dust and a dish mop.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

A beautifully appointed luncheon was given by Mrs. Olive M. Scaife in honor of her attractive daughter, Miss Myrtle Marie Scaife, the occasion serving to announce formally the engagement of Miss Scaife to Joseph Walter Tuttle of Pennsylvania.

The decorations were charmingly carried out in pink and white, the centerpiece being a large basket filled with pink sweet peas and snapdragons, arranged in a mound of pink roses, and tiny Eucalyptus. To each rose pink streamers extended to each place forming the attractive favors.

The place cards were small cupids standing on pink hearts and holding small envelopes in which were inclosed cards bearing the names of the betrothed, while at either end of the table were tall white lighted tapers.

Mrs. Scaife was assisted by Mrs. Charles H. Chrysler and Mrs. Harry H. Whitley, the other guests including Mrs. Edward Warner, Mrs. John Whitley, Mrs. William Newman, Mrs. Clark Evans, Mrs. William Perkins, Mrs. Theodore Spurgeon, Mrs. Gilbert Mattison, Mrs.

CONSTIPATION IS CURSE OF CITIES

90% of Modern City People are Sufferers, Says Science

Soft life and soft diet—they're at the root of the trouble. They cause irregular, bowel movements—or movements that are regular, but not complete. Decayed material remains in the intestine to poison the entire system. The results are headaches, lassitude, backache, sleeplessness, bad dreams, nervousness, loss of appetite, lowered vitality and increased susceptibility to serious disease which may result in premature disability or death.

Don't trifle with intestinal poisoning. Cure it—don't form the dangerous laxative habit! The natural way is best. Add bulk and roughage to your diet—it saved primitive man, and it will save you. Eat natural 100% bran—Pillsbury's Health Bran—it is the best source of the bulk which is so vital to your health.

Warning—be sure you get the right bran. When your doctor says, "Eat bran," he means a true, natural 100% bran—Pillsbury's Health Bran. Because it is uncooked, unsweetened and unsulphured, it really does the work—you get the full, gentle, natural laxative action of the unbroken flakes. Use it to prepare delicious food—muffins, tea cakes, macaroons, doughnuts, apple cake, etc.—recipes are on every package. Your grocer has it—eat it three times a day.

Frank Kelleher, Mrs. Joseph Silverman, Mrs. Harry Whitley, Mrs. Charles Chrysler, Mrs. Clark Evans, Mrs. Winnifred Wilson, Mrs. L. Marie Minter, Mrs. Gertrude Flick, Mrs. Marie Cottrell and Miss Myrtle M. Scaife. The wedding will be an event of June 20.

Dinner Party
Mrs. W. H. Stewart of Munich, Ind., who has been a guest at the Hotel Huntington since early in the winter, gave a dinner Monday evening at which she gathered a number of friends whom she has known

MARRIED AT FAMILY RESIDENCE

Bride of Attractive April Wedding

Mrs. Charles Edward Hatch

ONE of the attractive weddings of the month was that of the 20th inst., when Miss Virginia Grace Edgerton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Edgerton, became the bride of Charles Edward Hatch, the ceremony taking place at the family residence, 11125 Freeman avenue, Inglewood, with Rev. H. C. Mullen officiating. Miss Gertrude Triplett of Los Angelen was maid of honor in pale orchid organdie, carrying flowers to match, and Harold Edgerton, brother of the bride, served Mr. Hatch as best man.

Miss Marguerite Baker of Arcadia played the wedding marches. The bride's gown was of soft white silk, her veil of tulle being held in place by orange blossoms, and she carried lilacs of the valley and Cecile Brunner roses.

YOUR BABY

By Myrtle Marie Scaife

Mrs. Hatch will be glad to receive additional mail, (personal only) personal reply.

IDEALS FOR THE MOTHER

The mother-to-be has an entirely emotional outlook on the event she is anticipating. When she thinks of the baby she views him in relationship to herself; how she is going to enjoy taking care of him; dressing him up; playing with him. If she thinks of the new life from the baby's standpoint, what he has a right to demand of his mother, she is very unusual indeed. And yet upon this viewpoint depends not the physical life of the child, perhaps, but certainly his future as an individual.

Whether the child is going to be happy and therefore unhampered by conflicts with his parents, associates and life in general, whether he is going to be dissatisfied, rebellious, delinquent and a problem, depends on his mother's appreciation of his rights as an individual and how best to cultivate them.

The new mother might sit down and ask herself a few of these questions. Instead of burying herself entirely in the details of comfort for the physical well being of the child. Am I going to be a mother who will remember that my child is not a small adult and won't react as such, but is physiologically and psychologically different from me?

Am I going to appreciate the seriousness of the child's play and not disregard it as trivial and inconsequential?

Am I going to be a mother who will remember that my child is not a small adult and won't react as such, but is physiologically and psychologically different from me?

Am I going to appreciate the seriousness of the child's play and not disregard it as trivial and inconsequential?

OUR HISTORY IN PICTURES 1014

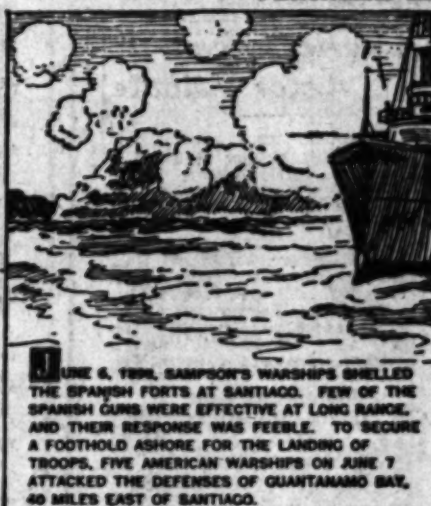

The Story of Our War With Spain. Americans Land at Guantanamo.

by J. CARROLL MANNING

THE U.S. BATTLESHIP "TEXAS" ON PATROL.

WHEN IT WAS FOUND THAT THE SINKING OF THE COLLIER "MERRIMAC" HAD ONLY PARTIALLY CLOSED THE ENTRANCE OF SANTIAGO HARBOR, ADMIRAL SAMPSON CONTINUED HIS RELENTLESS BLOCKADE. HE BELIEVED THAT THE CITY AND THE SPANISH FLEET COULD BE TAKEN EASILY WITH THE AID OF LAND FORCES, AND ASKED THAT AN ARMY BE SENT TO SANTIAGO.

ON APRIL 6, 1898, SAMPSON'S WARSHIPS SHELLED THE SPANISH FORTS AT SANTIAGO. FEW OF THE SPANISH GUNS WERE EFFECTIVE AT LONG RANGE, AND THEIR RESPONSE WAS FEIBLE. TO SECURE A FOOTHOLD ASHORE FOR THE LANDING OF TROOPS, FIVE AMERICAN WARSHIPS ON JUNE 7 ATTACKED THE DEFENSES OF GUANTANAMO BAY, 40 MILES EAST OF SANTIAGO.

SAILORS FROM THE "ST. LOUIS" CUT THE SUBMARINE CABLE, AND, AFTER TWO DAYS' BOMBARDMENT, THE WARSHIPS SILENCED THE SPANISH GUNS, AND MADE THEIR WAY THROUGH THE ENTRANCE TO FISHERMAN'S POINT ON THE EASTERN SHORE OF THE BAY.

HERE, ON JUNE 10, THE UNITED STATES LANDING FORCE WAS DISMISSED BY THE 1ST MARINE BATTALION, COMMANDER ROBERT HARTINGTON.

Franklin Students to Give Radio Hour

Lions Club Broadcast From Pittsburgh

Event Will Be Over Forty Stations

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER
Lillian Burkhardt, Goldsmith, president of the Jewish Women's Council, will deliver the weekly Council on International Relations talk at KHJ, the Don Lee radio station, on the educational hour this afternoon.

The Spartans half-hour at 7 p.m. will have two vocalists, June Parker, blues singer, and Leslie Brigham, baritone.

At exactly 8:30, according to E. K. Barnes, day-time manager of KHJ, the famous Brunswick record team of "Sweet William and Red Bill" will broadcast what is said to be their first Pacific Coast radio program in person.

The program leading up to this feature and also concluding that hour will be the studio concert orchestra with Ina Mitchell Butler as soloist.

"Schools of the Radio," a weekly feature, will be the 9 p.m. entertainment with selections from musical comedy of years ago. Julius

Phillips will be the hour's soloist, accompanied by David Klatskin.

SCHOOL TALENT
The educational hour at 4 p.m. also will include Prof. Walter Sylvester Harrison, with his history talk, assisted by school talent.

Bruce A. Findlay, an assistant superintendent of schools, will deliver a brief talk and Charles Barclay Moore, principal of Franklin High School, will speak on "Cooperation Within the Schools."

From the entertainment angle of the program students from Franklin High will present excerpts from the opera, "Marriage of Figaro," by Lawrence Curtis of Lincoln High and Agnes C. Peterson, of Luther Burbank High. This will include the choruses, solo and duet numbers.

PITTSBURGH HOUR
Tomorrow at 7 p.m. another national program will be on the air locally through KHJ.

The broadcast will be from the platform of the Syria Mosque in Pittsburgh, Pa., and will be on the national network in the form of a radio program at which 1900 Lions Clubs will be hosts to blind people.

The radio program is designed not only to entertain blind people, but where but also to focus public attention on the problems of the blind and especially on the possibilities of the prevention of blindness.

The entertainers will include Harold Bauer, nationally known pianist; Anna Ochs, former Metropolitan opera soprano; Edward Grassie, violinist, and others of equal fame.

KTBI MOVES
KTBI, the Bible Institute station, will move into its new studio and quarters the middle of May instead of the first as originally planned, according to John Olase, station director.

BACKGROUND NEW YORK DOCKS

Von Sternberg Will Direct George Bancroft's Next Picture; Popular Young Writers Turn Film Producers; Johnny Burke's Kid Brother is Lead

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The docks of New York will furnish the title as well as the background of George Bancroft's next starring picture for Paramount, according to an announcement yesterday by R. P. Schulberg.

"The Docks of New York" is an original story by John Monk Saunders, with script by Jules Furthman.

Joseph Von Sternberg will direct. At present the director and Furthman are on their way to New York to absorb atmosphere and color for the production, which will be placed before the camera in the latter part of May.

Bancroft will play a dock worker, and the story will give him the fourth of a series of strong dramatic portrayals which started with "Underworld" and carried on through "The Showdown" and "The Drag Net."

Two well-known young people in the film world, both writers, have decided to take a whack at producing. They are none other than our old friends, George and Katharine.

George, who is a scenario writer, and Katharine, who is a writer, also a writer, formerly an assistant director, and now a producer, are the ones who have decided to take a whack at producing.

After a short and well-earned vacation, Jack Loden, one of Paramount's most promising young writers, is to return to work with a role in the special production, "The Perfidious Traitor," which was announced yesterday by studio officials.

Others in the all-star cast of the picture are Olive Brock, Mary Brian, William Powell, Olga Baclanova and Fred Kohler. Victor Schertzinger will direct.

Mabel McNamee on Vitaphone
That versatile stage artist, Mabel McNamee, is the latest player to be added to Vitaphone's staff of celebrities.

Miss McNamee, according to word received yesterday, is to appear in a play in the company of while she will sing a number of her new songs.

Colleen Moore Adopts Coll
The stork hovered over First National studios at Burbank yesterday leaving a pony colt on the back lot where a number of people were gathered to take part in a picture there.

Colleen Moore at once adopted the little fellow and named him "Happiness in honor of her next picture, "Happiness Ahead."

Guyton Host to Opera Group
W. B. Guyton was host at a luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday to the members of his committee in the campaign of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association for 1909.

The principal players are all well known and include Grant Withers, Wade Boteler, Beatrice Parnes, Evva Angelus. Others in the cast are the Chinese found in the City Hall dedication parade yesterday; Mike Tedgren, Paul Hall and Anselita Eite.

Dinner to Open Week for Boys
Boys will be discussed from all angles by city officials, clergymen and educators at joint dinner of the Chamber of Commerce, Community Chest and Council for the Promotion of Boys' Welfare at the Alexandria Monday, marking the opening of the Boys' Week. The first day, Sunday, will be confined to activities in churches.

Those scheduled to talk are Mayor Croy, William Lacy, E. B. Dwyer, Judge Scott, James E. Davis, George Helle, Virgil Kewey, Rev. Joseph Sullivan and Rabbi Edgar J. Green. Joseph Scott, chairman of the Boys' Week committee, will preside.

Club Presents Play Tonight
"So This is London" will be presented by players of the Benito Athletic Club for the benefit of charity at the Roosevelt High School tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

The Benito Athletic Club is composed of young Jewish men. The organization has engaged a twenty-piece orchestra for the entertainment.

STILL AT HAWTHORNE RAIDED AND MAN HELD
While innumerable floes were melting in reverse before the new City Hall yesterday, deputy sheriffs working under Capt. Benton of Sheriff Traeger's dry-enforcement team, raided a house at Avenue Three and Market street, Hawthorne, and confiscated a 300-gallon still, fifty gallons of liquor and forty gallons of moonshine.

A. H. Joker was taken into custody and charged with possession of the still.

POISON ENDS MAN'S LIFE
Albert Lindy White, 25 years of age, ended his life yesterday by swallowing poison in his room in a hotel at Eighth and Figueroa streets, according to police. He was dead when found by a maid. He left a note addressed to his father, L. M. White of Yuma, Ariz. The body is at the county morgue.

"So This is London" will be presented by players of the Benito Athletic Club for the benefit of charity at the Roosevelt High School tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

The Benito Athletic Club is composed of young Jewish men. The organization has engaged a twenty-piece orchestra for the entertainment.

STILL AT HAWTHORNE RAIDED AND MAN HELD
While innumerable floes were melting in reverse before the new City Hall yesterday, deputy sheriffs working under Capt. Benton of Sheriff Traeger's dry-enforcement team, raided a house at Avenue Three and Market street, Hawthorne, and confiscated a 300-gallon still, fifty gallons of liquor and forty gallons of moonshine.

A. H. Joker was taken into custody and charged with possession of the still.

POISON ENDS MAN'S LIFE
Albert Lindy White, 25 years of age, ended his life yesterday by swallowing poison in his room in a hotel at Eighth and Figueroa streets, according to police. He was dead when found by a maid. He left a note addressed to his father, L. M. White of Yuma, Ariz. The body is at the county morgue.

PLAYGROUND BOARD TO HELP CHILDREN'S PROGRESS
The Los Angeles Playground Commission will play an important part in carrying out the "Child in the Home" theme to be stressed at the second annual Home Beautiful Exposition opening at the Shrine City Auditorium. It was announced yesterday.

Members of the commission, meeting with sponsors of the Shrine Exposition and the management, K. M. Scoville and Sydney Miller, mapped out a series of children's programs to be featured during the eight-day run of this unique display of Los Angeles allied home-building concerns and their products.

Decision to feature children and the important part they play in the home by business and civic groups sponsoring the Home Beautiful Exposition, was announced yesterday.

BACKGROUND NEW YORK DOCKS

Von Sternberg Will Direct George Bancroft's Next Picture; Popular Young Writers Turn Film Producers; Johnny Burke's Kid Brother is Lead

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The docks of New York will furnish the title as well as the background of George Bancroft's next starring picture for Paramount, according to an announcement yesterday by R. P. Schulberg.

"The Docks of New York" is an original story by John Monk Saunders, with script by Jules Furthman.

Joseph Von Sternberg will direct. At present the director and Furthman are on their way to New York to absorb atmosphere and color for the production, which will be placed before the camera in the latter part of May.

Bancroft will play a dock worker, and the story will give him the fourth of a series of strong dramatic portrayals which started with "Underworld" and carried on through "The Showdown" and "The Drag Net."

Two well-known young people in the film world, both writers, have decided to take a whack at producing. They are none other than our old friends, George and Katharine.

George, who is a scenario writer, and Katharine, who is a writer, also a writer, formerly an assistant director, and now a producer, are the ones who have decided to take a whack at producing.

After a short and well-earned vacation, Jack Loden, one of Paramount's most promising young writers, is to return to work with a role in the special production, "The Perfidious Traitor," which was announced yesterday by studio officials.

Others in the all-star cast of the picture are Olive Brock, Mary Brian, William Powell, Olga Baclanova and Fred Kohler. Victor Schertzinger will direct.

Mabel McNamee on Vitaphone
That versatile stage artist, Mabel McNamee, is the latest player to be added to Vitaphone's staff of celebrities.

Miss McNamee, according to word received yesterday, is to appear in a play in the company of while she will sing a number of her new songs.

Colleen Moore Adopts Coll
The stork hovered over First National studios at Burbank yesterday leaving a pony colt on the back lot where a number of people were gathered to take part in a picture there.

Colleen Moore at once adopted the little fellow and named him "Happiness in honor of her next picture, "Happiness Ahead."

Guyton Host to Opera Group
W. B. Guyton was host at a luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday to the members of his committee in the campaign of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association for 1909.

The principal players are all well known and include Grant Withers, Wade Boteler, Beatrice Parnes, Evva Angelus. Others in the cast are the Chinese found in the City Hall dedication parade yesterday; Mike Tedgren, Paul Hall and Anselita Eite.

Dinner to Open Week for Boys
Boys will be discussed from all angles by city officials, clergymen and educators at joint dinner of the Chamber of Commerce, Community Chest and Council for the Promotion of Boys' Welfare at the Alexandria Monday, marking the opening of the Boys' Week. The first day, Sunday, will be confined to activities in churches.

Those scheduled to talk are Mayor Croy, William Lacy, E. B. Dwyer, Judge Scott, James E. Davis, George Helle, Virgil Kewey, Rev. Joseph Sullivan and Rabbi Edgar J. Green. Joseph Scott, chairman of the Boys' Week committee, will preside.

OPENING PROVES DAZZLING SHOW
Warner Brothers' Theater
Premiere Sets Mark
Event in Reality Pageant of Fashion and Beauty
House Crowded With Social and Cinema Leaders

The film, "The Glorious Betsy," is the first thus far shown here to include spoken dialogue in the dramatic scenes. There was a brief episode in "The Jam Singer" which included dialogue, but the new production gives more place to the spoken word.

The musical score for "The Glorious Betsy" was reproduced by Vitaphone, but for the prologue there was the theater orchestra and also a jazz band.

Virtually all the resources of the motion-picture theater are therefore used in providing the initial entertainment. In this respect the program is exceptionally elaborate, and will unquestionably attract very big audiences.

OUTSTANDING NUMBER
Principals in the prologue are Daphne Pollard and Harry Keely. Miss Pollard's travesties being unusually clever.

The outstanding number is one that she does with chorus showing the stress of 1890, with bustle effects much exaggerated. Two girls were required for each costume, one concealed beneath mountains of cloth performing as the bustle part of the costume. Considerable novelty was added to this act, because of the fact that the bustles and long trains were detachable from the rest of the costume and ambled about the stage of their own volition.

There is a very beautiful climax to this prologue act, simply and artistically staged, in which the making of color effects forms a glowing impression.

I don't know whether anybody ever did anything in Hollywood in the days of '40, but the prologue doesn't hesitate to include this note of early California history.

Larry Ceballos is responsible for the production, which is decidedly original and delightful.

THE SERIOUS SIDE
"The Glorious Betsy" is a pleasing picture of the romantic order. It is a fictional narrative of the love of Jerome Bonaparte for an American girl—a belle of the old South. Miss Costello is cast as the heroine, and Conrad Nagel as Bonaparte. The production has been safely provided with a happy ending.

One of the most significant things seemed to be Bonaparte's ability to escape from carriages in which the officers of the emperor apparently safely ensconced him. With a considerable dexterity he always manages to disappear at the moment when he was most in demand for some event of state. It so happens that a goodly portion of the plot hinges on this Houdini-like quality.

As regards the serious side of its story, "The Glorious Betsy" portrays the sacrifice made by Betsy for the political future of Bonaparte. This is done at the behest of Napoleon, who is portrayed by the opera singer, Pasquale Amato. I will say that Amato is rather more acceptable as the emperor than others that I recall at the moment, though perhaps still not a Napoleon.

CHARM AND APPEAL
The picture has charm and appeal in its romantic sequences, and is a novelty as regards its historical background. The singing of the Marseillaise is a brilliant moment, and the dialogue in this portion of the picture is very effective. The experiment with the spoken word is very interesting.

Andres de Segura is the solo singer in the Marseillaise scene. Mary McDermott, John Miljan, Michael Vavitch are among the more prominent silent actors. Betty Blythe appears for a brief flash as the Princess of Wurtemberg.

Photographically and in direction by Alan Crosland, the production is attractive.

The audience enjoyed immensely a short Vitaphone presentation, portraying a mail-carrier's holiday in which his family insist on his spending most of his time walking. Warner Brothers have unquestionably added a new embellishment to the entertainment world here with their new theater, and furnished the occasion for one of Hollywood's most glittering premieres.

RUDHYAR'S WORK NOT TO BE PLAYED NOW
D. Rudhyar's latest orchestral work will not be played by the Tandler Little Symphony tomorrow morning. The impossibility of sufficient rehearsals have made necessary a postponement of its performance.

Mr. Rudhyar has programmed several novelties for this second morning concert.

A lecture-recital on modern music to be given at the Frank C. Wamsley studio, 1121 El Centro, Hollywood, tonight, by Mr. Rudhyar who is acknowledged to be one of the world authorities on this difficult subject, is anticipated by a large number of enthusiasts.

DEL RUTH SCORES
Roy Del Ruth has completed the editing and titling on "Ladies Prefer Blondes," which he directed for Warner Brothers. This picture is said to abound in mirth-provoking situations and outstanding performances by Buster Collier, Audrey Farris and André Beranger.

Screen Star Joins Horton Cast
LOIS WILSON
Will replace Harriette George in the role of Anna Sterling, when "The Goodbye Girl" resumes its scandal-mongering at the Vine-Street Theater tonight.

"LAUGH, CLOWN" ARRIVES
Lon Chaney in "Laugh, Clown, Laugh," and Fanchon and Marco's new "Radio-Television" idea, starting today at Loew's State, will make this week one of the biggest in the history of the house, according to the expectations of the management.

Chaney is said to rise to new heights of emotion in his characterization of the circus buffoon, whose painted smile masks a terrific conflict. Loretta Young, a newcomer, is the romantic foil of the star as the little circus dancer, Herbert Brenson produced the picture from David Belasco's stage work.

"Radio-Television," the stage show, reportedly will introduce television for the first time on any stage. Four radio stations are taking part in the show on special nights, with Benny Rubin as chief announcer at every performance. Monday will be KFI night, Tuesday, KMET night, Wednesday, KPLA night, and Thursday, KFZZ night. Each station sending its announcer and its most talented artists to appear in person.

TWO MORE CITIES SEE PLAY SOON
"Good News" Will Open in Los Angeles and London at Same Time

Sam Salvin, New York producer who brings the collegiate musical comedy, "Good News," to the Mayan Theater next month for an extended run and is now busy getting the production whipped into shape for the West Coast premiere, has just received good news from London. It seems that the British metropolis has not clamored in vain for this international hit, for London is to have its own company of "Good News." This will open at approximately the same time as the Los Angeles show.

Salvin has not decided upon his opening date beyond that it will be "some time in May," for he is said to be interested principally in having a flawless organization when the initial curtain rises, regardless of added expense.

"Good News" is playing to capacity crowds in New York, Boston and Chicago.

B. G. De Sylva, graduate of the University of California, is co-author of the book with Laurence Schwab, and wrote the lyrics.

Fans Will Hear Universal Cast
Stars in person will be a feature of tonight's opening at the Boulevard Theater when "Thanks for the Buggy Ride," Laura La Plante's latest Universal comedy, is given its Los Angeles premiere.

In addition to Miss La Plante, who will appear on the Boulevard stage in conjunction with the opening of her new film, other members of the cast will be introduced, including Glenn Tryon, Tride Prizma, Jack Raymond and David Rollins. It is announced.

DUO ACT IN SAME TOWN AFTER FIFTEEN YEARS
Though Ben Hewlett, the ill-fated heavy in "Women Go On Forever," and Hugh O'Connell, the star reporter in "The Racket," began their dramatic careers in the same play at the old Alcazar in San Francisco, fifteen years ago, not since then have they met behind the footlights. In the decade and a half that have elapsed since their auspicious debut in "Lucky O'Brien," this is the first time they have ever played in the same city concurrently.

Hewlett's dramatic career since those early juvenile days has been violent and has run through a variety of guises, which he plays with gusto, whether on stage or screen. Off-stage, Hewlett is neither violent nor a blackguard. He is an extremely charming and affable chap in his early thirties who looks like a writer and at odd moments is one.

For eight weeks Hewlett's villainy has been contributing to the excitement of life in general at the Music Box where Daisy Bowman and her houseful of reckless roommates have been extending their hospitality to Los Angeles playgoers.

SEASON ENDS IN TRIUMPH OF LEADER
Schneevogt Moves Audience With Dramatic Portrayal of Beethoven

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES
The program of the last symphony pair of the season is a triumph for Conductor Georg Schneevogt. He played upon the Philharmonic Orchestra with all his magnetism and power, choosing the fourth and fifth symphonies of Beethoven with which to leave a lasting impression and move his audience to a frenzied enthusiasm. The spirit of the concert reached the same high peak of enjoyment which was felt in the audience that attended Schneevogt's first program in October, a point which he has never succeeded in quite touching again until last night.

Ruth Shaffner, a Los Angeles soprano who has accompanied into a full-time artist during her two years in New York, received a mighty welcome and her excellent performance of two modern lyric numbers by Joseph Marx and the familiar Mozart "Alleluia," proved she deserved it.

The Beethoven fourth, which has only been heard here at the Hollywood Bowl, has the qualities of inspired song. The violins and clarinets have a long quiet passage and indeed the whole symphony breathes of a peace and contentment not generally associated with the fantastic moods of Beethoven. In its performance last night, there was a delicacy and smoothness which, alas, has not always been heard from the Philharmonic this year.

Miss Shaffner's effective voice has given sweetest and a new and appealing timbre. Intonation in the two Marx numbers with their modern disregard for natural intervals and their very stretchy and atmospheric orchestral background, is not an easy attainment but Miss Shaffner sang precisely in the center of the notes with ease. Her high tones were lovely and of quite surprising power.

The Mozart aria was worthy of the serious artist Miss Shaffner is, but a rather matter-of-fact orchestral accompaniment hampered her. Her best refinements of phrasing were met with a stolidity from the orchestra that was never intended by Mozart. Repeated calls and many flowers came for the popular young singer and the pride which Los Angeles feels in her success was everywhere evident.

The concert closed with the stimulating fifth symphony of Beethoven, but before Mr. Schneevogt had received an ovation from the audience, to which he replied with a few heart-felt words of gratitude to his friends in Los Angeles, spoken sincerely in his quiet and inimitable English.

Beethoven's fifth is vigorous, stirring dramatic. There is a wildness and a frenzy in it that is linked with what we know of Beethoven's life and character. All is forceful and forward moving. There is no lingering even in the tenderness of the Andante.

Such an interpretation is a tremendous task upon the players, but the Philharmonic members met the demand for the most part if one excepts some smugly phrasing early in the first movement and certain lost notes where everything was sacrificed for the dramatic effect.

The double-bass players should receive special applause for their easy enormous difficulties and are victorious.

Soviet Cinemas to be Imported
NEW YORK, April 26.—The three big historical motion pictures that have been made by the Russian Soviet republic are to be shown in New York under the management of Arthur Hammerstein, the theatrical man announced yesterday, when he came in from his tour in the French Riviera de France. When Mr. Hammerstein was in Berlin arranging for the showing of "The Fall of St. Petersburg," "Mother" and "The Ten Days That Shook the World." The first one, the producer said, required the use of the entire population of what is now Leningrad. He will show them at the Hammerstein Theater when "Golden Dawn" closes.

Jazz Taboo in Reyes Concert
Since their earliest studies in Paris, Herma and Juan Reyes, European concert artists, coming to the Orpheum Theater next week have ignored jazz, remaining loyal to the works of the masters. They contend the current jazz "crash" is a passing one, grossly exaggerated and exploited beyond its scope.

They concentrate on such selections as a Liszt "Fantasia," Bartok's "Polka," Beethoven's "Kreutzeriana," Brahms' F-minor Sonata, and render an original interpretation of Strauss' "Blue Danube Waltz."

Judge Stresses Women's Rights
Judge Ben Lindsey, in his short talk, "Horses' Rights for Women," on the Fox Moritone News this week at the Criterion Theater, strikes a note which has evoked favorable comment from the women who have viewed and heard this interesting feature of the program. It is averred.

Judge Lindsey, known as a champion of women and particularly for the splendid child welfare work he has carried on in his native State, Colorado, is strong in his appeal for better nation-wide conditions.

This feature is being shown in conjunction with the initial downtown showing of "Sunrise."

Tripp Occupies Woolsey's Role
George B. Tripp, popular comedian, will be seen in "Excess Baggage," commencing tonight at the Figueroa Playhouse, where the comedy-drama is now in its ninth week.

Tripp will be seen in the part that he made public here by Robert Woolsey, whose place he is taking. Woolsey, who has been working twenty hours a day in preparation for the premiere of "Till We Meet Again," will stay here to fill the leading role in the musical comedy from his pen.

Tripp will tour the Pacific Coast as the "hoof" in "Excess Baggage," while Woolsey stays here with "Till We Meet Again."

[illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible]
